

Hello! I encourage you to regulate the use of AI in campaign ads.

I'm worried about campaigns using AI to create ads with the intention of misleading voters. Not everybody cares deeply about politics, and average Americans shouldn't have to dig into research to know whether or not ads from campaigns are depicting real events or if they were generated by AI.

I understand that there is a law that prohibits fraudulent misrepresentation candidates putting words in the mouths of their opponents that they never said or implied. The FEC should make clear that deliberately deceptive AI content depicting a candidate saying or doing something that they never did is covered under this law.

It's important to get out ahead of this issue with regulations to rein in deceptive AI-content in campaign ads now before an election swings on the release of a damaging, AI-generated campaign ad and breaks the remaining trust people have in our elections and democracy.

Comments provided by :
Abramczyk, Casimir

As a young Maryland resident who is alarmed by threats to our democracy, I strongly you to regulate the use of AI in campaign ads.

I'm extremely worried about campaigns using AI to create ads with the intention of misleading voters. Average Americans who are busy with work and family shouldn't have to dig into research to know whether or not ads from campaigns are depicting real events or if they were generated by AI.

I understand that there is a law that prohibits fraudulent misrepresentation candidates putting words in the mouths of their opponents that they never said or implied. The FEC should make clear that deliberately deceptive AI content depicting a candidate saying or doing something that they never did is covered under this law.

It's crucial to get out ahead of this issue with regulations to rein in deceptive AI-content in campaign ads now before an election swings on the release of a damaging, AI-generated campaign ad and breaks the remaining trust people have in our elections and democracy.

Comments provided by :
Amalphy, Madeline

ARTIFICIAL INTELLIGENCE (AI) IS SERIOUSLY THREATENING DEMOCRACY!!!!!!

YOU MUST PROTECT DEMOCRACY FROM FAKE ADS created by AI!!!!!!!!!!!!

I'm worried about campaigns using AI to create ads with the intention of misleading voters. Not everybody cares deeply about politics, and average Americans shouldn't have to dig into research to know whether or not ads from campaigns are depicting real events or if they were generated by AI.

I understand that there is a law that prohibits fraudulent misrepresentation candidates putting words in the mouths of their opponents that they never said or implied. The FEC should make clear that deliberately deceptive AI content depicting a candidate saying or doing something that they never did is covered under this law.

It's important to get out ahead of this issue with regulations to rein in deceptive AI-content in campaign ads now before an election swings on the release of a damaging, AI-generated campaign ad and breaks the remaining trust people have in our elections and democracy.

Comments provided by :
Anderson, Glen

Hello FEC,

I encourage you to regulate the use of AI in campaign ads.

I'm worried about campaigns using AI to create ads with the intention of misleading voters. Not everybody cares deeply about politics, and average Americans shouldn't have to dig into research to know whether or not ads from campaigns are depicting real events or if they were generated by AI.

I understand that there is a law that prohibits fraudulent misrepresentation candidates putting words in the mouths of their opponents that they never said or implied. The FEC should make clear that deliberately deceptive AI content depicting a candidate saying or doing something that they never did is covered under this law.

It's important to get out ahead of this issue with regulations to rein in deceptive AI-content in campaign ads now before an election swings on the release of a damaging, AI-generated campaign ad and breaks the remaining trust people have in our elections and democracy.

Thank you for your time.
Joseph M Baillie

Comments provided by :
Baillie, Joseph

AI can be a valuable tool, but it only puts out what we put into it. A bad actor can easily use AI to create misleading ads for political purposes. I therefore urge you to regulate the use of AI when it comes to campaign ads.

Comments provided by :
Barber, Sherri Gail

Hello! I encourage you to regulate the use of AI in campaign ads.

I'm worried about campaigns using AI to create ads with the intention of misleading voters. Not everybody cares deeply about politics, and average Americans shouldn't have to dig into research to know whether or not ads from campaigns are depicting real events or if they were generated by AI.

I understand that there is a law that prohibits fraudulent misrepresentation candidates putting words in the mouths of their opponents that they never said or implied. The FEC should make clear that deliberately deceptive AI content depicting a candidate saying or doing something that they never did is covered under this law.

It's important to get out ahead of this issue with regulations to rein in deceptive AI-content in campaign ads now before an election swings on the release of a damaging, AI-generated campaign ad and breaks the remaining trust people have in our elections and democracy.

Thank you for your time.

Comments provided by :
Barclay, Elizabeth

I support amending regulations to prohibit deliberate use of deceptive Artificial Intelligence in campaign ads. Also, clearly prohibit the use of deep fake ads that use an artificially produced image of someone saying things that person did not say. The punishment for violating the regulation should be commensurate with punishment for false advertising and slander.

Comments provided by :
Bardal, R.

It is difficult enough to separate truth from lies in campaign ads. Using artificial intelligence to manipulate or create images and speech will confuse voters. It should be banned before AI developers start developing tools.

Comments provided by :
Bardell, Timothy

Most people will admit that they really don't understand AI. What most people might not admit is that they have no ability to determine if AI is being used to make false claims.

When a technology is so new regulation is necessary because people will not recognize AI generated campaign ads nor have the tools to analyze the content. Using AI for campaign ads is relatively new and should be held to a high standard until actual real world results can be analyzed and the citizenry can be expected to understand this new development.

In the face of the unknown, caution is always wise.

Thank you for accepting this comment.

Comments provided by :
Barnhardt , Debra

Hello! I encourage you to regulate the use of AI in campaign ads.

I'm worried about campaigns using AI to create ads with the intention of misleading voters. Not everybody cares deeply about politics, and average Americans shouldn't have to dig into research to know whether or not ads from campaigns are depicting real events or if they were generated by AI.

I understand that there is a law that prohibits fraudulent misrepresentation candidates putting words in the mouths of their opponents that they never said or implied. The FEC should make clear that deliberately deceptive AI content depicting a candidate saying or doing something that they never did is covered under this law.

It's important to get out ahead of this issue with regulations to rein in deceptive AI-content in campaign ads now before an election swings on the release of a damaging, AI-generated campaign ad and breaks the remaining trust people have in our elections and democracy.

Thank you for your time."

Comments provided by :
Barrett, Margaret

Disallow AI generated ads in all elections.

Comments provided by :
Bart, Bonnie

I'm worried about campaigns using AI to create ads with the intention of misleading voters. Not everybody cares deeply about politics, and average Americans shouldn't have to dig into research to know whether or not ads from campaigns are depicting real events or if they were generated by AI.

I understand that there is a law that prohibits fraudulent misrepresentation candidates putting words in the mouths of their opponents that they never said or implied. The FEC should make clear that deliberately deceptive AI content depicting a candidate saying or doing something that they never did is covered under this law.

It's important to get out ahead of this issue with regulations to rein in deceptive AI-content in campaign ads now before an election swings on the release of a damaging, AI-generated campaign ad and breaks the remaining trust people have in our elections and democracy.

Thank you.

Comments provided by :
Barton, Jennifer

I encourage the regulation of the use of AI in campaign ads.

I am worried about campaigns using AI to create ads with the intention of misleading voters. Not everybody cares deeply about politics, and average Americans shouldn't have to dig into research to know whether or not ads from campaigns are depicting real events or if they were generated by AI.

I understand that there is a law that prohibits fraudulent misrepresentation candidates putting words in the mouths of their opponents that they never said or implied. The FEC should make clear that deliberately deceptive AI content depicting a candidate saying or doing something that they never did is covered under this law.

It is important to get out ahead of this issue with regulations to rein in deceptive AI-content in campaign ads now before an election swings on the release of a damaging, AI-generated campaign ad and breaks the remaining trust people have in our elections and democracy.

Thank you for your consideration.

Comments provided by :
Begalske, Leigh

Hello! I encourage you to regulate the use of AI in campaign ads.

I'm worried about campaigns using AI to create ads with the intention of misleading voters. Not everybody cares deeply about politics, and average Americans shouldn't have to dig into research to know whether or not ads from campaigns are depicting real events or if they were generated by AI.

I understand that there is a law that prohibits fraudulent misrepresentation candidates putting words in the mouths of their opponents that they never said or implied. The FEC should make clear that deliberately deceptive AI content depicting a candidate saying or doing something that they never did is covered under this law.

It's important to get out ahead of this issue with regulations to rein in deceptive AI-content in campaign ads now before an election swings on the release of a damaging, AI-generated campaign ad and breaks the remaining trust people have in our elections and democracy.

Thank you for your time.

Comments provided by :
Belfield, Steven

"Hello! I encourage you to regulate the use of AI in campaign ads.

I'm worried about campaigns using AI to create ads with the intention of misleading voters. Not everybody cares deeply about politics, and average Americans shouldn't have to dig into research to know whether or not ads from campaigns are depicting real events or if they were generated by AI.

I understand that there is a law that prohibits fraudulent misrepresentation candidates putting words in the mouths of their opponents that they never said or implied. The FEC should make clear that deliberately deceptive AI content depicting a candidate saying or doing something that they never did is covered under this law.

It's important to get out ahead of this issue with regulations to rein in deceptive AI-content in campaign ads now before an election swings on the release of a damaging, AI-generated campaign ad and breaks the remaining trust people have in our elections and democracy.

Thank you for your time."

Comments provided by :
Bentley, Terri

"Hello! I encourage you to regulate the use of AI in campaign ads.

I'm worried about campaigns using AI to create ads with the intention of misleading voters. Not everybody cares deeply about politics, and average Americans shouldn't have to dig into research to know whether or not ads from campaigns are depicting real events or if they were generated by AI.

I understand that there is a law that prohibits fraudulent misrepresentation candidates putting words in the mouths of their opponents that they never said or implied. The FEC should make clear that deliberately deceptive AI content depicting a candidate saying or doing something that they never did is covered under this law.

It's important to get out ahead of this issue with regulations to rein in deceptive AI-content in campaign ads now before an election swings on the release of a damaging, AI-generated campaign ad and breaks the remaining trust people have in our elections and democracy.

Thank you for your time."

Comments provided by :
Boehler, Karen

I urge you to regulate the use of AI in campaign ads.

I'm worried about campaigns using AI to create ads with the intention of misleading voters. Not everybody cares deeply about politics, and average Americans shouldn't have to dig into research to know whether or not ads from campaigns are depicting real events or if they were generated by AI.

I understand that there is a law that prohibits fraudulent misrepresentation candidates putting words in the mouths of their opponents that they never said or implied. The FEC should make clear that deliberately deceptive AI content depicting a candidate saying or doing something that they never did is covered under this law.

It's important to get out ahead of this issue with regulations to rein in deceptive AI-content in campaign ads now before an election swings on the release of a damaging, AI-generated campaign ad and breaks the remaining trust people have in our elections and democracy.

Thank you for your time."

Under Attach Files, you may attach files that strengthen your argument but this is not required

After hitting Next on the Attach Files section, you will be taken to a comment confirmation page that displays the information you entered. You must hit Submit on this confirmation page to send your comment to the FEC.

Comments provided by :
Bonner, Patrick

Hello! I encourage you to regulate the use of AI in campaign ads.

I'm worried about campaigns using AI to create ads with the intention of misleading voters. Not everybody cares deeply about politics, and average Americans shouldn't have to dig into research to know whether or not ads from campaigns are depicting real events or if they were generated by AI.

I understand that there is a law that prohibits fraudulent misrepresentation candidates putting words in the mouths of their opponents that they never said or implied. The FEC should make clear that deliberately deceptive AI content depicting a candidate saying or doing something that they never did is covered under this law.

It's important to get out ahead of this issue with regulations to rein in deceptive AI-content in campaign ads now before an election swings on the release of a damaging, AI-generated campaign ad and breaks the remaining trust people have in our elections and democracy.

Thank you for your time.

Comments provided by :
Bothun, Scott

I write to you out of great concern about the nefarious effects of our use of artificial intelligence in campaign ads. I write to call on you to prohibit the use of AI in campaign ads.

I am gravely concerned about campaigns using AI to create ads with the intention of misleading and manipulating voters. It is well known that our citizenry is not as engaged in politics as would be healthy and sane for a democracy and as a result not many will take the time to ascertain through research whether campaign ad claims depict reality or not. I am very concerned about this as already we have witnessed the damage caused by widespread lies and false news.

I understand that there is a law that prohibits fraudulent misrepresentation candidates putting words in the mouths of their opponents that they never said or implied. The FEC should make clear that deliberately deceptive AI content depicting a candidate saying or doing something that they never did is covered under this law.

It's important to confront the dangers posed by the use of artificial intelligence before it is too late and to frame and put in place meaningful and enforceable regulations to rein in deceptive AI-content in campaign ads. Please act swiftly now before an election is contaminated by the release of a damaging, AI-generated campaign ad and succeeds in greater damage of the remaining trust people have in our elections and democracy.

Thank you for your time.

Comments provided by :
Bradley, Marya

Hello! I encourage you to regulate the use of AI in campaign ads.

I'm worried about campaigns using AI to create ads with the intention of misleading voters. Not everybody cares deeply about politics, and average Americans shouldn't have to dig into research to know whether or not ads from campaigns are depicting real events or if they were generated by AI.

I understand that there is a law that prohibits fraudulent misrepresentation candidates putting words in the mouths of their opponents that they never said or implied. The FEC should make clear that deliberately deceptive AI content depicting a candidate saying or doing something that they never did is covered under this law.

It's important to get out ahead of this issue with regulations to rein in deceptive AI-content in campaign ads now before an election swings on the release of a damaging, AI-generated campaign ad and breaks the remaining trust people have in our elections and democracy.

Thank you for your time.

Comments provided by :
Braunstein, Jenna

Hello! I encourage you to regulate the use of AI in campaign ads.

I'm worried about campaigns using AI to create ads with the intention of misleading voters. Not everybody cares deeply about politics, and average Americans shouldn't have to dig into research to know whether or not ads from campaigns are depicting real events or if they were generated by AI.

I understand that there is a law that prohibits fraudulent misrepresentation candidates putting words in the mouths of their opponents that they never said or implied. The FEC should make clear that deliberately deceptive AI content depicting a candidate saying or doing something that they never did is covered under this law.

It's important to get out ahead of this issue with regulations to rein in deceptive AI-content in campaign ads now before an election swings on the release of a damaging, AI-generated campaign ad and breaks the remaining trust people have in our elections and democracy.

Thank you for your time.

Comments provided by :
Brown, Sylvia

"Hello! I encourage you to regulate the use of AI in campaign ads.

I'm worried about campaigns using AI to create ads with the intention of misleading voters. Not everybody cares deeply about politics, and average Americans shouldn't have to dig into research to know whether or not ads from campaigns are depicting real events or if they were generated by AI.

I understand that there is a law that prohibits “fraudulent misrepresentation” — candidates putting words in the mouths of their opponents that they never said or implied. The FEC should make clear that deliberately deceptive AI content depicting a candidate saying or doing something that they never did is covered under this law.

It's important to get out ahead of this issue with regulations to rein in deceptive AI-content in campaign ads now — before an election swings on the release of a damaging, AI-generated campaign ad and breaks the remaining trust people have in our elections and democracy.

Comments provided by :
brown, tom

I encourage you to regulate the use of AI in campaign ads.

I'm worried about campaigns using AI to create ads with the intention of misleading voters. Not everybody cares deeply about politics, and average Americans shouldn't have to dig into research to know whether or not ads from campaigns are depicting real events or if they were generated by AI.

I understand that there is a law that prohibits fraudulent misrepresentation candidates putting words in the mouths of their opponents that they never said or implied. The FEC should make clear that deliberately deceptive AI content depicting a candidate saying or doing something that they never did is covered under this law.

It's important to get out ahead of this issue with regulations to rein in deceptive AI-content in campaign ads now before an election swings on the release of a damaging, AI-generated campaign ad and breaks the remaining trust people have in our elections and democracy.

Comments provided by :
Caffrey Garza, Ellen

Hello! I encourage you to regulate the use of AI in campaign ads.

I'm worried about campaigns using AI to create ads with the intention of misleading voters. Not everybody cares deeply about politics, and average Americans shouldn't have to dig into research to know whether or not ads from campaigns are depicting real events or if they were generated by AI.

I understand that there is a law that prohibits fraudulent misrepresentation candidates putting words in the mouths of their opponents that they never said or implied. The FEC should make clear that deliberately deceptive AI content depicting a candidate saying or doing something that they never did is covered under this law.

It's important to get out ahead of this issue with regulations to rein in deceptive AI-content in campaign ads now before an election swings on the release of a damaging, AI-generated campaign ad and breaks the remaining trust people have in our elections and democracy.

Thank you for your time

Comments provided by :
Calambro, Leslie

please protect our planet

Comments provided by :
Cameron, Debra

I can think of no one who would object to banning fake campaign ads, whether AI generated or not. Free speech concerns should not include the ability to distort the truth concerning a candidates position on the issues. Most (ALL?) candidates from one of the two political parties refuse to even submit answers to questionnaires stating their position on the issues. We need more truth in advertising in campaign ads.

Comments provided by :
Campbell, John

PLEASE regulate the use of AI in campaign ads!!! I'm worried about campaigns using AI to create ads with the intention of misleading voters. Not everybody cares deeply about politics, and average Americans shouldn't have to dig into research to know whether or not ads from campaigns are depicting real events or if they were generated by AI.

I understand that there is a law that prohibits fraudulent misrepresentation candidates putting words in the mouths of their opponents that they never said or implied. The FEC should make clear that deliberately deceptive AI content depicting a candidate saying or doing something that they never did is covered under this law.

It's important to get out ahead of this issue with regulations to rein in deceptive AI-content in campaign ads now before an election swings on the release of a damaging, AI-generated campaign ad and breaks the remaining trust people have in our elections and democracy.

Thank you for your time."

Comments provided by :
carlson, carol

I am writing to request that you regulate the use of AI in campaign ads because I am concerned that campaigns will use AI to create ads that will mislead voters by misrepresenting the opposition candidate, their own candidate, or the issues. The American voter should not have to conduct research to know whether ads from campaigns are depicting real events or if they were created by AI. It is the job of the FEC to ensure that only real events are depicted.

There is an existing law that prohibits fraudulent misrepresentation candidates attributing to their opponents words or views that they never said or implied. The FEC should make clear that deliberately deceptive AI content that depicts a candidate saying or doing something that they never did is among the material prohibited by this law.

It is important for the FEC to deal now with this issue through regulations that rein in deceptive AI-content in campaign ads before an election is influenced decisively by the release of a damaging, AI-generated campaign ad and destroys the remaining trust that Americans have in our elections and our democracy.

Thank you for your time.

Comments provided by :
Carroll, Linda

Hello! I encourage you to regulate the use of AI in campaign ads.

I'm worried about campaigns using AI to create ads with the intention of misleading voters. Not everybody cares deeply about politics, and average Americans shouldn't have to dig into research to know whether or not ads from campaigns are depicting real events or if they were generated by AI.

I understand that there is a law that prohibits fraudulent misrepresentation candidates putting words in the mouths of their opponents that they never said or implied. The FEC should make clear that deliberately deceptive AI content depicting a candidate saying or doing something that they never did is covered under this law.

It's important to get out ahead of this issue with regulations to rein in deceptive AI-content in campaign ads now before an election swings on the release of a damaging, AI-generated campaign ad and breaks the remaining trust people have in our elections and democracy.

Thank you for your time.

Comments provided by :
Chakmakian, Susan

Hello! I encourage you to regulate IN A TIMELY MANNER the use of AI in campaign ads. A required 5 second QR code appearance that leads to a certification and review outcome might be ideal. Undoing and PREVENTING mis/disinformation needs to be the AIM of regulatory efforts to minimize the impact of bad actors.

I know that there will be campaigns using AI to create ads with the intention of misleading voters. Not everybody cares deeply about politics, and average Americans shouldn't have to dig into research to know whether or not ads from campaigns are depicting real events or if they were generated by AI.

I understand that there is a law that prohibits fraudulent misrepresentation candidates putting words in the mouths of their opponents that they never said or implied. The FEC should make clear that deliberately deceptive AI content depicting a candidate saying or doing something that they never did is covered under this law.

It's important to get out ahead of this issue with regulations to rein in deceptive AI-content in campaign ads now before an election swings on the release of a damaging, AI-generated campaign ad and breaks the remaining trust people have in our elections and democracy.

Thank you for your time

Comments provided by :
Chan, B.

We need checked facts, not misinformation in our news and politics.
Please strengthen (and create if needed!) voter information protections, as every vote is precious and of value, if based on fact.

Comments provided by :
Cheng, Anne

Hello! Please do whatever is in your power to regulate misleading political ads, including those created by AI. The citizens need accurate information in order to make informed decisions. Thank you.

Comments provided by :
Chrencik, Margaret

Unfortunately, I believe I was used as a beta for Artificial Intelligence software without my consent, starting with my employment at IBM. After I was illegally terminated by IBM, the Army and IBM continued to use me as a beta without my consent to prevent me from better employment with my MBA, three college degrees, three languages and with an additional gist understanding of two other languages. I filed a lawsuit with NY Southern District Court and appealed to the 2nd Circuit Court of Appeals in NYC (Court case #: 13-752). Artificial intelligence was used to steal my assets, steal my life, rig my emails and deprive me of "life, liberty and justice." I am a whistle blower to joint venture capital funding fraud and theft by Silicone Valley Bank and the IT Industry artificial intelligence has infiltrated every aspect of my life, to the point of surviving a nuclear attack.

Comments provided by :
Christoff, Stephanie

Dear FEC:

Picture this:

The week before Election Day 2024, a presidential campaign releases an ad that shows their opponent committing a violent crime and admitting to it on camera.

Videos are powerful. Its hard to deny something you can see with your own eyes and hear with your own ears, and the candidate featured in the ad tumbles in the polls.

Theres only one problem: The video is entirely fabricated by artificial intelligence. The candidate did not commit violent acts, and never did or said anything depicted on screen.

Reporters discover the truth, and rush to inform the public. But by now, its too late: The candidate narrowly loses the election because voters were misled by an entirely fictional ad.

I encourage you to regulate the use of AI in campaign ads.

I'm worried about campaigns using AI to create ads with the intention of misleading voters. Not everybody cares deeply about politics, and average Americans shouldn't have to dig into research to know whether or not ads from campaigns are depicting real events or if they were generated by AI.

I understand that there is a law that prohibits fraudulent misrepresentation candidates putting words in the mouths of their opponents that they never said or implied. The FEC should make clear that deliberately deceptive AI content depicting a candidate saying or doing something that they never did is covered under this law.

It's important to get out ahead of this issue with regulations to rein in deceptive AI-content in campaign ads now before an election swings on the release of a damaging, AI-generated campaign ad and breaks the remaining trust people have in our elections and democracy.

Thank you for your time."

Comments provided by :
Clark, Kenneth

Hello! I encourage you to regulate the use of AI in campaign ads.

I'm worried about campaigns using AI to create ads with the intention of misleading voters. Not everybody cares deeply about politics, and average Americans shouldn't have to dig into research to know whether or not ads from campaigns are depicting real events or if they were generated by AI.

I understand that there is a law that prohibits fraudulent misrepresentation candidates putting words in the mouths of their opponents that they never said or implied. The FEC should make clear that deliberately deceptive AI content depicting a candidate saying or doing something that they never did is covered under this law.

It's important to get out ahead of this issue with regulations to rein in deceptive AI-content in campaign ads now before an election swings on the release of a damaging, AI-generated campaign ad and breaks the remaining trust people have in our elections and democracy.

Thank you for your time.

Comments provided by :
Clark, W.

There is a great need to regulate the use of AI in campaign ads.

AI can be used to create ads with the intention of misleading voters. Americans shouldn't have to dig into research to know whether or not ads from campaigns are depicting real events or if they were generated by AI.

There is a law that prohibits fraudulent misrepresentation candidates putting words in the mouths of their opponents that they never said or implied. The FEC should make clear that deliberately deceptive AI content depicting a candidate saying or doing something that they never did is covered under this law.

It's important to get out ahead of this issue with regulations to rein in deceptive AI-content in campaign ads now before an election swings on the release of a damaging, AI-generated campaign ad and weakens the remaining trust people have in our elections and democracy.

Thank you.

Comments provided by :
Cline, William

Hello! I encourage you to regulate the use of AI in campaign ads.

I'm worried about campaigns using AI to create ads with the intention of misleading voters. Not everybody cares deeply about politics, and average Americans shouldn't have to dig into research to know whether or not ads from campaigns are depicting real events or if they were generated by AI.

I understand that there is a law that prohibits fraudulent misrepresentation candidates putting words in the mouths of their opponents that they never said or implied. The FEC should make clear that deliberately deceptive AI content depicting a candidate saying or doing something that they never did is covered under this law.

It's important to get out ahead of this issue with regulations to rein in deceptive AI-content in campaign ads now before an election swings on the release of a damaging, AI-generated campaign ad and breaks the remaining trust people have in our elections and democracy.

Thank you.

Comments provided by :
Cohick, Melanie

I do not believe that Artificial Intelligence should be allowed in campaign ads because this would possibly mislead voters into thinking what is being portrayed is real. Voters have enough trouble distinguishing truth from lies in campaign advertising without introducing the additional threat of artificially-produced video that looks real.

If the FEC finds such a prohibition would be unconstitutional -- a violation of the First Amendment -- then I think there should be a required disclaimer at the beginning and end of such footage to make it clear that this is not an actual event or actual people in the footage.

Comments provided by :
Cook, Kimberly

"Hello! I encourage you to regulate the use of AI in campaign ads.

I'm worried about campaigns using AI to create ads with the intention of misleading voters. Not everybody cares deeply about politics, and average Americans shouldn't have to dig into research to know whether or not ads from campaigns are depicting real events or if they were generated by AI.

I understand that there is a law that prohibits fraudulent misrepresentation candidates putting words in the mouths of their opponents that they never said or implied. The FEC should make clear that deliberately deceptive AI content depicting a candidate saying or doing something that they never did is covered under this law.

It's important to get out ahead of this issue with regulations to rein in deceptive AI-content in campaign ads now before an election swings on the release of a damaging, AI-generated campaign ad and breaks the remaining trust people have in our elections and democracy.

Thank you for your time."

Comments provided by :
Cosenza, Gerald

Hello, and thank you for taking public comment on this most important issue!

I'm worried about campaigns using AI to create ads with the intention of misleading voters.

As a physician, I have seen the danger of AI inserting itself in the already-fragile, and often non-existent, Doctor-Patient relationship. Our health has already been affected deeply by misinformation spread by industry as a means of profit. Average Americans shouldn't have to research the facts to know whether industry profiteers, with no medical training, are influencing their healthcare provider. Likewise, Average Americans should not be influenced by campaigns claiming to depict real events when they can be generated by AI.

The law that prohibits fraudulent misrepresentation should be strictly applied; it is imperative that it exclude the use of AI in campaign ads. AI has the potential to further undermine both our democracy and our health...and ultimately it will if not reigned in.

Please regulate the use of AI in campaign ads.

thanks again,
Lauri

Comments provided by :
Costello, Lauri

Hi. Please regulate the use of AI in campaign ads.

I'm worried about campaigns using AI to create ads with the intention of misleading voters. Not everybody cares deeply about politics, and average Americans shouldn't have to dig into research to know whether or not ads from campaigns are depicting real events or if they were generated by AI.

I understand that there is a law that prohibits fraudulent misrepresentation candidates putting words in the mouths of their opponents that they never said or implied. The FEC should make clear that deliberately deceptive AI content depicting a candidate saying or doing something that they never did is covered under this law.

It's important to get out ahead of this issue with regulations to rein in deceptive AI-content in campaign ads now before an election swings on the release of a damaging, AI-generated campaign ad and breaks the remaining trust people have in our elections and democracy. Too much is at stake!

Thank you!

Comments provided by :
Cote, Katherine

Please ban AI-generated deepfake ads in political campaigns. Keep up the issues where AI may be used to present false information.

Sincerely,

Glinda Dames-Fincher

Comments provided by :

Dames-Fincher, Glinda

Comments on FEC REG 2023-02 Artificial Intelligence in Campaign Ads

I write to express my utmost support for the Petitions request that the Federal Election Commission (FEC) uses its rulemaking authority to amend 11 CFR 110.16, with that request aimed at preventing and enforcing the improper and fraudulent use of artificial intelligence (AI) and deepfake technologies as they pertain to campaign advertisements. I firmly believe that this proposal will be a critical safeguard to our democratic system, protecting voters from the malicious use of these developing technologies, and that this regulation must be passed with haste and diligence before significant and irreversible damage can be done to the upcoming 2024 U.S. presidential election.

I believe the scope of the Petitions request is within the statutory authority of the FEC, as the request narrows the FECs jurisdiction over the use of AI and deepfake only to political campaign ads which are already regulated under 11 CFR 110.16. However, it is imperative that such definitions are not too restrictive so that the FEC can effectively regulate new types of AI and deepfake content as these technologies continue to develop and may become indistinguishable to the average individual. These technologies carry extraordinary and unprecedented risks to free thought, public trust in government, and truthfulness within our democracy.

Moreover, the FEC must require that campaign ads be transparent about the use of AI in the ad and prohibit the use of deepfake, voice impersonations, and other AI-generated content used to put words in the mouths of others. To clarify what is and is not deceptive, the FEC must elaborate within the proposed regulation and provide examples of proper and improper use of AI in campaign ads. This will require collaboration with experts outside of the FEC, as well as the primary developers of these technologies, such as OpenAI. Elucidating the difference between acceptable and deceptive use of AI, with input from political, legal, and AI industry experts, will set much-needed standards for the use of AI in campaign ads and politics as a whole.

If the FEC distinguishes between allowable and unallowable usages of AI, I believe that criminal penalties, not civil, are the only effective means of dissuading the use of deepfakes, impersonation, and other improper AI usages, and these harsher penalties are justified given the consequential circumstances. The use of deepfakes is a deliberate form of fraud, and those responsible must be swiftly held accountable for the sake of justice and to prevent further damage.

As a private citizen and concerned voter, I urge the FEC to accept the Petitions request to amend 11 CFR 110.16 to include AI and deepfake technology as potential tools for fraud in the context of campaign ads. Failure to do so could have catastrophic consequences in the 2024 U.S. presidential election and put our nation on a course for even more division and disinformation for years to come.

Grant Davis
Spotsylvania, Virginia

Comments provided by :
Davis, Grant

I encourage you to regulate the use of AI in campaign ads.

I am concerned that campaigns using AI will create ads with the intention of misleading voters. Not everybody cares deeply about politics, and average Americans shouldn't have to dig into research to know whether or not ads from campaigns are depicting real events or if they were generated by AI.

I understand that there is a law that prohibits fraudulent misrepresentation candidates putting words in the mouths of their opponents that they never said or implied. The FEC should make clear that deliberately deceptive AI content depicting a candidate saying or doing something that they never did is covered under this law.

Please get out ahead of this issue with regulations to rein in deceptive AI-content in campaign ads now before an election swings on the release of a damaging, AI-generated campaign ad and breaks the remaining trust people have in our elections and democracy.

Thank you for considering these comments.

Comments provided by :
davis, kim

Dear FEC:

I encourage you to regulate the use of AI in campaign ads.

I'm worried about campaigns using AI to create ads with the intention of misleading voters. Not everybody cares deeply about politics, and average Americans shouldn't have to dig into research to know whether or not ads from campaigns are depicting real events or if they were generated by AI.

I understand that there is a law that prohibits fraudulent misrepresentation candidates putting words in the mouths of their opponents that they never said or implied. The FEC should make clear that deliberately deceptive AI content depicting a candidate saying or doing something that they never did is covered under this law.

It's important to get out ahead of this issue with regulations to rein in deceptive AI-content in campaign ads now before an election swings on the release of a damaging, AI-generated campaign ad and breaks the remaining trust people have in our elections and democracy.

Thank you.

Comments provided by :
De Cecco, Jorge

Hello! I encourage you to regulate the use of AI in campaign ads.

I'm worried about campaigns using AI to create ads with the intention of misleading voters. Not everybody cares deeply about politics, and average Americans shouldn't have to dig into research to know whether or not ads from campaigns are depicting real events or if they were generated by AI.

I understand that there is a law that prohibits fraudulent misrepresentation candidates putting words in the mouths of their opponents that they never said or implied. The FEC should make clear that deliberately deceptive AI content depicting a candidate saying or doing something that they never did is covered under this law.

It's important to get out ahead of this issue with regulations to rein in deceptive AI-content in campaign ads now before an election swings on the release of a damaging, AI-generated campaign ad and breaks the remaining trust people have in our elections and democracy.

Thank you for your time.

Comments provided by :
DeMars, Matthew

I am deeply concerned about the real threat of using AI to campaign deceptively against candidates running for office. AI-generated deep-fake ads must be banned. Malicious campaigns could trick voters with AI-generated images and videos.

I understand that there is a law that prohibits fraudulent misrepresentation candidates putting words in the mouths of their opponents that they never said or implied. The FEC should make clear that deliberately deceptive AI content depicting a candidate saying or doing something that they never did is covered under this law.

It's important to get out ahead of this issue with regulations to rein in deceptive AI-content in campaign ads now before an election swings on the release of a damaging, AI-generated campaign ad and breaks the remaining trust people have in our elections and democracy.

Thank you for your time."

Comments provided by :
Denton, Ann

"Hello! I encourage you to regulate the use of AI in campaign ads.

I'm worried about campaigns using AI to create ads with the intention of misleading voters. Not everybody cares deeply about politics, and average Americans shouldn't have to dig into research to know whether or not ads from campaigns are depicting real events or if they were generated by AI.

I understand that there is a law that prohibits fraudulent misrepresentation candidates putting words in the mouths of their opponents that they never said or implied. The FEC should make clear that deliberately deceptive AI content depicting a candidate saying or doing something that they never did is covered under this law.

It's important to get out ahead of this issue with regulations to rein in deceptive AI-content in campaign ads now before an election swings on the release of a damaging, AI-generated campaign ad and breaks the remaining trust people have in our elections and democracy.

Thank you for your time."

Comments provided by :
Detato, Susan

I am writing to encourage the FEC to regulate the use of AI in campaign ads.

I'm worried about campaigns using AI to create ads with the intention of misleading voters. No one should have to research to know whether or not ads from campaigns are depicting real events or if they were generated by AI. Even if they did, the damage in perception of the targeted candidate may have already been done.

I understand that there is a law that prohibits fraudulent misrepresentation candidates putting words in the mouths of their opponents that they never said or implied. The FEC should make clear that deliberately deceptive AI content depicting a candidate saying or doing something that they never did is covered under this law and the offender(s) will be prosecuted.

It's important to get out ahead of this issue with regulations to rein in deceptive AI-content in campaign ads now before an election swings on the release of a damaging, AI-generated campaign ad and breaks the remaining trust people have in our elections.

Thank you for your time.

Comments provided by :
Dragish, Marc

I encourage you to regulate the use of AI in campaign ads.

I am concerned about campaigns using AI to create ads with the intention of misleading voters. Not everyone cares deeply about politics and Americans shouldn't have to do research to know whether an ad is real or depicting events created by AI.

The current law prohibiting fraudulent misrepresentation needs to make clear that deliberately deceptive AI content, depicting a candidate saying or doing something that they never did is covered under this law.

It is important to address this issue with regulations to rein in deceptive AI-content in campaign ads now - before an election swings on the release of a damaging AI-generated campaign ad and breaks the remaining trust in our elections and democracy.

Thanks for your time,

Mary Eberle

Comments provided by :
Eberle, Mary

Hello! I encourage you to regulate the use of AI in campaign ads.

I'm worried about campaigns using AI to create ads with the intention of misleading voters. Not everybody cares deeply about politics, and average Americans shouldn't have to dig into research to know whether or not ads from campaigns are depicting real events or if they were generated by AI.

I understand that there is a law that prohibits "fraudulent misrepresentation" - candidates putting words in the mouths of their opponents that they never said or implied. The FEC should make clear that deliberately deceptive AI content depicting a candidate saying or doing something that they never did is covered under this law.

It's important to get ahead of this issue with regulations to rein in deceptive AI-content in campaign ads now - before an election swings of the release of a damaging, AI-generated campaign ad that breaks the remaining trust people have in our elections and democracy.

Thank you for your time.

Comments provided by :
Eckles, Sabrina

In the digital age, political campaigns have taken on a new dimension, heavily influenced by the advent of artificial intelligence. While technology has the potential to enhance the democratic process, it has also brought forth a unique challenge: the proliferation of deceptive AI-generated content. Where information can be manipulated with unprecedented ease, transparency in political campaigns has become particularly integral to safeguarding the integrity of elections and maintaining public trust in the electoral process. Transparency empowers citizens to make informed decisions by providing access to accurate and truthful information. The rise of AI-generated content, particularly deceptive materials, poses a severe threat to this foundational principle. Deceptive AI-generated campaign advertisements, deepfakes, and manipulated audio and video content have the potential to deceive voters on an unprecedented scale. When public discourse is contaminated with disinformation and manipulated visuals or audio, it erodes trust in political candidates, parties, and the electoral system as a whole.

One of the key questions that arise in this context is whether existing regulations are sufficient to address the challenge of deceptive AI-generated campaign materials. Traditional campaign regulations were crafted in an era before AI's sophistication allowed for the creation of highly convincing fake content. These regulations may not be equipped to handle the nuances and complexities of AI-generated deception. To address this challenge effectively, it is crucial to define what constitutes a "deliberatively deceptive" AI campaign advertisement. Clarity in this definition is essential for regulators, political candidates, and organizations tasked with overseeing campaign activities. Such a definition should encompass content that is intentionally created or disseminated with the aim of misleading voters, undermining the electoral process, or harming the reputation of candidates or parties. Guidelines and criteria should be established to differentiate between content that contributes to informed political debate and content that seeks to deceive or manipulate public opinion.

Comments provided by :
Elahi, Maira

To Whom It May Concern

I encourage you to regulate the use of AI in campaign ads.

I'm worried about campaigns using AI to create ads with the intention of misleading voters. Not everybody cares deeply about politics, and average Americans shouldn't have to dig into research to know whether or not ads from campaigns are depicting real events or if they were generated by AI.

I understand that there is a law that prohibits fraudulent misrepresentation candidates putting words in the mouths of their opponents that they never said or implied. The FEC should make clear that deliberately deceptive AI content depicting a candidate saying or doing something that they never did is covered under this law.

It's important to get out ahead of this issue with regulations to rein in deceptive AI-content in campaign ads now before an election swings on the release of a damaging, AI-generated campaign ad and breaks the remaining trust people have in our elections and democracy.

Thank you for your time

Comments provided by :
Evans, Donald

I am asking that you regulate the use of AI in political ads. I am very concerned that AI will be used to make ads with the intention of misleading voters. We already have misleading ads and AI has the potential to make it much more convincing and difficult for voters.

Comments provided by :
Evinger, Linda

I strongly recommend that the Commission prohibit use of AI generated audios and videos in all political campaigns. There are examples today where AI technology can be used to mis-represent reality of the truth about any topic.

With the amount of mis-information already being spread by some candidates for political office, the general public does not need to be subjected to new levels of mis-information in videos created by AI technology. Voters need to be well informed, and it is hard to discount what they see with their own eyes, if it is a deep fake.

Please act quickly to enact rules to prohibit use of AI generated media, and establish harsh penalties for those who violate these rules.

Comments provided by :

EWALT, JOHN

I don't believe the right of free speech extends to robots or computer programs, therefore I don't believe political (or other) statements made by the various forms of artificial intelligence are protected.

Comments provided by :
Fankhauser, Robert

Hello! Please ensure the regulation of AI usage in campaign ads.

I'm worried about campaigns using AI to create ads with the intention of misleading voters. Not everybody cares deeply about politics, and average Americans shouldn't have to dig into research to know whether or not ads from campaigns are depicting real events or if they were generated by AI.

I understand that there is a law that prohibits fraudulent misrepresentation candidates putting words in the mouths of their opponents that they never said or implied. The FEC should make clear that deliberately deceptive AI content depicting a candidate saying or doing something that they never did is covered under this law.

It's important to get out ahead of this issue with regulations to rein in deceptive AI-content in campaign ads now before an election swings on the release of a damaging, AI-generated campaign ad and breaks the remaining trust people have in our elections and democracy.

Thank you for your time.

Comments provided by :
Foss, Jessine

Hello! I encourage you to regulate the use of AI in campaign ads.

I'm worried about campaigns using AI to create ads with the intention of misleading voters. Not everybody cares deeply about politics, and average Americans shouldn't have to dig into research to know whether or not ads from campaigns are depicting real events or if they were generated by AI.

I understand that there is a law that prohibits fraudulent misrepresentation candidates putting words in the mouths of their opponents that they never said or implied. The FEC should make clear that deliberately deceptive AI content depicting a candidate saying or doing something that they never did is covered under this law.

It's important to get out ahead of this issue with regulations to rein in deceptive AI-content in campaign ads now before an election swings on the release of a damaging, AI-generated campaign ad and breaks the remaining trust people have in our elections and democracy.

Finally, it makes me sad that I should have to actually ask for this, but here we are. AI can be a powerful tool in the right hands, and used to help a LOT of people, but given some of the images I've already seen on the internet, it can also make things look very real when they're not.

Thank you for your time.

Comments provided by :
Fraley, Scott

"Hello! I encourage you to regulate the use of AI in campaign ads.

I'm worried about campaigns using AI to create ads with the intention of misleading voters. Not everybody cares deeply about politics, and average Americans shouldn't have to dig into research to know whether or not ads from campaigns are depicting real events or if they were generated by AI.

I understand that there is a law that prohibits fraudulent misrepresentation candidates putting words in the mouths of their opponents that they never said or implied. The FEC should make clear that deliberately deceptive AI content depicting a candidate saying or doing something that they never did is covered under this law.

It's important to get out ahead of this issue with regulations to rein in deceptive AI-content in campaign ads now before an election swings on the release of a damaging, AI-generated campaign ad and breaks the remaining trust people have in our elections and democracy.

Thank you for your time."

Comments provided by :
Friedman, Carolyn

Hello! I strongly implore you to regulate the use of AI in campaign ads.

I'm deeply concerned about campaigns using AI to create ads with the intention of misleading voters. Not everybody cares deeply about politics, and average Americans shouldn't have to dig into research to know whether or not ads from campaigns are depicting real events or if they were generated by AI.

I understand that there is a law that prohibits fraudulent misrepresentation candidates putting words in the mouths of their opponents that they never said or implied. The FEC should make clear that deliberately deceptive AI content depicting a candidate saying or doing something that they never did is covered under this law.

It's crucial to get out ahead of this issue with regulations to rein in deceptive AI-content in campaign ads now before an election swings on the release of a damaging, AI-generated campaign ad and dismantles the remaining trust people have in our elections and democracy.

Thank you for reading and considering my comments.

Comments provided by :
G., Randall

"Hello! I encourage you to regulate the use of AI in campaign ads.

AI imagery is beginning to look like actual photographs.

I'm worried about campaigns using AI to create ads with the intention of misleading voters. Not everybody cares deeply about politics, and average Americans shouldn't have to dig into research to know whether or not ads from campaigns are depicting real events or if they were generated by AI.

I understand that there is a law that prohibits fraudulent misrepresentation candidates putting words in the mouths of their opponents that they never said or implied. The FEC should make clear that deliberately deceptive AI content depicting a candidate saying or doing something that they never did is covered under this law.

It's important to get out ahead of this issue with regulations to rein in deceptive AI-content in campaign ads now before an election swings on the release of a damaging, AI-generated campaign ad and breaks the remaining trust people have in our elections and democracy.

Thank you for your time."

Comments provided by :
Gajewski, John

I am concerned that if the SEC does not regulate the use of AI in political campaign ads that Americans will be duped into believing the silliest of things thus fueling disinformation with catastrophic results. Most people do not have time to suss out whether what they are viewing is real or AI generated, this is new technology, most would believe what they are viewing is real and not fake. Our country is speeding towards calamity and moneyed interests have taken over. Democracy needs a fair shot if we are to live in line with the ideals that created this nation. The failure to regulate results in chaos.

Comments provided by :
Gallup, Julie

Hello! I encourage you to regulate the use of AI in campaign ads.

I'm worried about campaigns using AI to create ads with the intention of misleading voters. Not everybody cares deeply about politics, and average Americans shouldn't have to dig into research to know whether or not ads from campaigns are depicting real events or if they were generated by AI.

I understand that there is a law that prohibits fraudulent misrepresentation candidates putting words in the mouths of their opponents that they never said or implied. The FEC should make clear that deliberately deceptive AI content depicting a candidate saying or doing something that they never did is covered under this law.

It's important to get out ahead of this issue with regulations to rein in deceptive AI-content in campaign ads now before an election swings on the release of a damaging, AI-generated campaign ad and breaks the remaining trust people have in our elections and democracy.

Thank you for your time.

Comments provided by :
Goldman, Jordan

PLEASE...my husband and I urge you to regulate the use of AI in campaign ads.

WE are worried about campaigns using AI to create ads with the intention of misleading voters. Not everybody cares deeply about politics, and average Americans shouldn't have to dig into research to know whether or not ads from campaigns are depicting real events or if they were generated by AI. AI CAN BE SO DESTRUCTIVE AND NEGATIVE AND SHOULD NOT BE USED IN CAMPAIGNS TO MISLEAD VOTERS.

WE understand that there is a law that prohibits fraudulent misrepresentation candidates putting words in the mouths of their opponents that they never said or implied. The FEC should make clear that deliberately deceptive AI content depicting a candidate saying or doing something that they never did is covered under this law.

It's important to get out ahead of this issue with regulations to rein in deceptive AI-content in campaign ads now before an election swings on the release of a damaging, AI-generated campaign ad and breaks the remaining trust people have in our elections and democracy.

PLEASE... AI USED DECEPTIVELY COULD DEFINITELY PUT AN END TO OUR DEMOCRACY. WE MUST BE TRUE TO OUR FOREFATHERS AND FOREMOTHERS AND NOT LET THIS HAPPEN.

Thank you for your time."

Comments provided by :
Graffagnino, Mary Ann and frank

It is crucial that you expand on the current law prohibiting candidates from fraudulent misrepresentation of their opponents in the Federal Election Campaign Act to include AI generated deepfakes.

Comments provided by :
Graham, Patricia

Good day,

Today I write to encourage you to regulate the use of AI in campaign ads. What concerns me about their potential is that campaigns using AI can create compelling ads that intentionally mislead voters. Not every person developing these technologies cares deeply politics or believes in representative democracy, but the average American shouldn't have to conduct in-depth research to know whether or not a campaign ad is depicting or characterizing something truthfully or if it was generated by AI to deceive or manipulate

I understand that there is a law that prohibits fraudulent misrepresentation, for example when candidates put words in the mouths of opponents that were never said or implied. The FEC should make clear that deliberately deceptive AI content which depicts a candidate saying or doing something that they never did is covered under this law, with severe financial penalties if need be.

It's important to proactively get ahead of this issue by using regulations to preempt and constrain deceptive AI-content in campaign ads now before we come to an election whose results hinge on the release of an inaccurate, inflammatory, or damaging AI-generated campaign ad that permanently dissolves the remaining trust people have in our elections and democracy. For these reasons I strongly urge you to regulate the use and implementation of AI by political campaigns.

Thank you for your time.

Comments provided by :
Granberry, Kendall

Hello. I encourage you to regulate the use of AI in campaign ads.

I'm worried about campaigns using AI to create ads with the intention of misleading voters. Not everybody cares deeply about politics, and average Americans shouldn't have to dig into research to know whether or not ads from campaigns are depicting real events or if they were generated by AI.

I understand that there is a law that prohibits fraudulent misrepresentation candidates putting words in the mouths of their opponents that they never said or implied. The FEC should make clear that deliberately deceptive AI content depicting a candidate saying or doing something that they never did is covered under this law.

It's important to get out ahead of this issue with regulations to rein in deceptive AI-content in campaign ads now before an election swings on the release of a damaging, AI-generated campaign ad and breaks the remaining trust people have in our elections and democracy.

Thank you for your time.

Comments provided by :
Graves, Caryn

This is critical.

Comments provided by :
Gray, Margaret

"Hello! I encourage you to regulate the use of AI in campaign ads.

I'm worried about campaigns using AI to create ads with the intention of misleading voters. Not everybody cares deeply about politics, and average Americans shouldn't have to dig into research to know whether or not ads from campaigns are depicting real events or if they were generated by AI.

I understand that there is a law that prohibits fraudulent misrepresentation candidates putting words in the mouths of their opponents that they never said or implied. The FEC should make clear that deliberately deceptive AI content depicting a candidate saying or doing something that they never did is covered under this law.

It's important to get out ahead of this issue with regulations to rein in deceptive AI-content in campaign ads now before an election swings on the release of a damaging, AI-generated campaign ad and breaks the remaining trust people have in our elections and democracy.

Thank you for your time."

Comments provided by :
Greene, Scott

I encourage you to regulate the use of AI in campaign ads. I'm worried about campaigns using AI to create ads with the intention of misleading voters. Not everybody cares deeply about politics, and average Americans shouldn't have to dig into research to know whether or not ads from campaigns are depicting real events or if they were generated by AI. I understand that there is a law that prohibits fraudulent misrepresentation candidates putting words in the mouths of their opponents that they never said or implied. The FEC should make clear that deliberately deceptive AI content depicting a candidate saying or doing something that they never did is covered under this law.

It's important to get out ahead of this issue with regulations to rein in deceptive AI-content in campaign ads now before an election swings on the release of a damaging, AI-generated campaign ad and breaks the remaining trust people have in our elections and democracy.

Comments provided by :
Gronemeyer, Kimberly

AI is getting out of hands when I here a voice on TV that belongs to a different real head

Comments provided by :
groshardt, joanne

I encourage you to regulate the use of AI in campaign ads.

I'm worried about campaigns using AI to create ads with the intention of misleading voters. Not everybody cares deeply about politics, and average Americans shouldn't have to dig into research to know whether or not ads from campaigns are depicting real events or if they were generated by AI.

I understand that there is a law that prohibits fraudulent misrepresentation candidates putting words in the mouths of their opponents that they never said or implied. The FEC should make clear that deliberately deceptive AI content depicting a candidate saying or doing something that they never did is covered under this law.

It's important to get out ahead of this issue with regulations to rein in deceptive AI content in campaign ads now before an election swings on the release of a damaging, AI-generated campaign ad and breaks the remaining trust people have in our elections and democracy.

Thank you for your time.

Comments provided by :
Grossman, Janet

Fake news distorts the electoral process. Anything you can do to prevent it will make America safer

Comments provided by :
grove, antony

Lets keep elections honest; lets keep advertising honest. Demand authentic human-created ads. Thank you.

Comments provided by :
Gruener, Bill

PLease do not allow AI use in advertisements where it is used to lie. It is dangerous to give people lies that will make their decisions wrong . Thank you.

Comments provided by :
Gunz, Betty

Hello! I encourage you to regulate the use of AI in campaign ads.

I'm worried about campaigns using AI to create ads with the intention of misleading voters. Not everybody cares deeply about politics, and average Americans shouldn't have to dig into research to know whether or not ads from campaigns are depicting real events or if they were generated by AI.

I understand that there is a law that prohibits fraudulent misrepresentation candidates putting words in the mouths of their opponents that they never said or implied. The FEC should make clear that deliberately deceptive AI content depicting a candidate saying or doing something that they never did is covered under this law.

It's important to get out ahead of this issue with regulations to rein in deceptive AI-content in campaign ads now before an election swings on the release of a damaging, AI-generated campaign ad and breaks the remaining trust people have in our elections and democracy.

Please enact regulations specifically for AI generated content in campaign ads.

Thank you.

Comments provided by :
Gwartney, Jon

Social media has platforms have shown themselves repeatedly to be incapable of effectively discerning reliable information from unreliable information. Allowing AI to manipulate voice, image, or video simply opens the door to a cascade of fabrication that many people will not be able to distinguish as untrue. Implement very clear rules that forbid AI or any other computer-based methods from altering voice, image, or video for the purpose of misleading or changing the intent of the sound or image, as the sounds or images are used in political ads. Simply adding "AI enhanced or altered" is not sufficient. The practice must be forbidden entirely. Our democracy rests on the ability of voters to obtain and distinguish reliable information. Allowing the use of AI to change sounds and images just makes this much more difficult. There is no up-side, the only imaginable use of manipulating sounds or images is to mislead.

Comments provided by :
Hall, Bryan

I encourage you to regulate the use of AI in campaign ads.

I'm worried about campaigns using AI to create ads with the intention of misleading voters. Not everybody cares deeply about politics, and average Americans shouldn't have to dig into research to know whether or not ads from campaigns are depicting real events or if they were generated by AI.

I understand that there is a law that prohibits fraudulent misrepresentation candidates putting words in the mouths of their opponents that they never said or implied. The FEC should make clear that deliberately deceptive AI content depicting a candidate saying or doing something that they never did is covered under this law.

It's important to get out ahead of this issue with regulations to rein in deceptive AI-content in campaign ads now before an election swings on the release of a damaging, AI-generated campaign ad and breaks the remaining trust people have in our elections and democracy.

Thank you for your time.

Comments provided by :
Haller, Maggie

I encourage you to regulate the use of AI in campaign ads.

I'm worried about campaigns using AI to create ads with the intention of misleading voters. Not everybody cares deeply about politics, and average Americans shouldn't have to dig into research to know whether or not ads from campaigns are depicting real events or if they were generated by AI.

I understand that there is a law that prohibits fraudulent misrepresentation candidates putting words in the mouths of their opponents that they never said or implied. The FEC should make clear that deliberately deceptive AI content depicting a candidate saying or doing something that they never did is covered under this law.

It's important to get out ahead of this issue with regulations to rein in deceptive AI-content in campaign ads now before an election swings on the release of a damaging, AI-generated campaign ad and breaks the remaining trust people have in our elections and democracy.

Comments provided by :
Harris, Freya

People have to question everything they see and hear nowadays, so with something as important as a political campaign and ads that go along with it, we should not have to have nor need an extra level of worry with Artificial Intelligence. Please stop this from ever happening

Comments provided by :
Harris, Kathy

To Whom It May Concern:

Please ban all uses of artificial intelligence in the formation/distribution of political adds in all media.

Thank you for your consideration on this matter.

Sincerely,

Comments provided by :
Harris, Mark

"Hello! I encourage you to regulate the use of AI in campaign ads.

I'm worried about campaigns using AI to create ads with the intention of misleading voters. Not everybody cares deeply about politics, and average Americans shouldn't have to dig into research to know whether or not ads from campaigns are depicting real events or if they were generated by AI.

I understand that there is a law that prohibits fraudulent misrepresentation candidates putting words in the mouths of their opponents that they never said or implied. The FEC should make clear that deliberately deceptive AI content depicting a candidate saying or doing something that they never did is covered under this law.

It's important to get out ahead of this issue with regulations to rein in deceptive AI-content in campaign ads now before an election swings on the release of a damaging, AI-generated campaign ad and breaks the remaining trust people have in our elections and democracy.

Thank you for your time."

Comments provided by :
Hayford, Carol

I am asking you to strongly regulate the use of AI in campaign ads.

I'm worried about campaigns using AI to create ads with the intention of misleading voters. Not everybody has the time or the ability to investigate information about politics, and average Americans shouldn't have to dig into research to know whether or not ads from campaigns are depicting real events or if they were generated by AI. This would likely add significantly to the misinformation and lies already on the internet, particularly at a time when so many are encouraged not to believe their lying eyes but rather to believe what potentially any bad actor is peddling.

I understand that there is a law that prohibits fraudulent misrepresentation candidates putting words in the mouths of their opponents that they never said or implied. The FEC should make clear that deliberately deceptive AI content depicting a candidate saying or doing something that they never did is covered under this law.

The 2024 elections - particularly those for President and statewide offices - is likely going to be one of the most consequential elections of our lifetimes.

It's important to get out ahead of this issue with regulations to rein in deceptive AI-content in campaign ads now before an election swings on the release of a damaging, AI-generated campaign ad and breaks the remaining trust people have in our elections and democracy.

Thank you for your time.

Comments provided by :
Hemmingsen , Karin

Hello! I encourage you to regulate the use of AI in campaign ads.

I'm worried about campaigns using AI to create ads with the intention of misleading voters. Not everybody cares deeply about politics, and average Americans shouldn't have to dig into research to know whether or not ads from campaigns are depicting real events or if they were generated by AI.

I understand that there is a law that prohibits fraudulent misrepresentation candidates putting words in the mouths of their opponents that they never said or implied. The FEC should make clear that deliberately deceptive AI content depicting a candidate saying or doing something that they never did is covered under this law.

It's important to get out ahead of this issue with regulations to rein in deceptive AI-content in campaign ads now before an election swings on the release of a damaging, AI-generated campaign ad and breaks the remaining trust people have in our elections and democracy.

Thank you for your time."

Comments provided by :
Heron, Carrie

"Hello! I encourage you to regulate the use of AI in campaign ads.

I'm worried about campaigns using AI to create ads with the intention of misleading voters. Not everybody cares deeply about politics, and average Americans shouldn't have to dig into research to know whether or not ads from campaigns are depicting real events or if they were generated by AI.

I understand that there is a law that prohibits fraudulent misrepresentation candidates putting words in the mouths of their opponents that they never said or implied. The FEC should make clear that deliberately deceptive AI content depicting a candidate saying or doing something that they never did is covered under this law.

It's important to get out ahead of this issue with regulations to rein in deceptive AI-content in campaign ads now before an election swings on the release of a damaging, AI-generated campaign ad and breaks the remaining trust people have in our elections and democracy.

Thank you for your time."

Comments provided by :
Hope, Phillip

Please regulate the use of AI in campaign ads.

I'm worried that campaigns can use AI to create ads with the intention of misleading voters. Most Americans do not have the time nor the expertise to dig into research to know whether or not ads from campaigns depict real events or were generated by AI.

I understand that there is a law that prohibits fraudulent misrepresentation candidates putting words into the mouths of their opponents that were never said or implied. The FEC should make clear that deliberately deceptive AI content depicting a candidate saying or doing something that they never said or did is covered under this law.

It's critical to get out ahead of this issue. We need to rein in deceptive AI-content in campaign ads now before an election swings on the release of a damaging, AI-generated campaign ad, as this could seriously damage the remaining trust people have in our elections and democracy.

Thank you for considering my comments.

Comments provided by :
Houdashelt, Mark

"Hello! I encourage you to regulate the use of AI in campaign ads.

I'm worried about campaigns using AI to create ads with the intention of misleading voters. Not everybody cares deeply about politics, and average Americans shouldn't have to dig into research to know whether or not ads from campaigns are depicting real events or if they were generated by AI.

I understand that there is a law that prohibits fraudulent misrepresentation candidates putting words in the mouths of their opponents that they never said or implied. The FEC should make clear that deliberately deceptive AI content depicting a candidate saying or doing something that they never did is covered under this law.

It's important to get out ahead of this issue with regulations to rein in deceptive AI-content in campaign ads now before an election swings on the release of a damaging, AI-generated campaign ad and breaks the remaining trust people have in our elections and democracy.

Thank you for your time."

Comments provided by :
Hutchinson, Melissa

Hello! I encourage you to regulate the use of AI in campaign ads.

I'm worried about campaigns using AI to create ads with the intention of misleading voters. Not everybody cares deeply about politics, and average Americans shouldn't have to dig into research to know whether or not ads from campaigns are depicting real events or if they were generated by AI.

I understand that there is a law that prohibits fraudulent misrepresentation candidates putting words in the mouths of their opponents that they never said or implied. The FEC should make clear that deliberately deceptive AI content depicting a candidate saying or doing something that they never did is covered under this law.

It's important to get out ahead of this issue with regulations to rein in deceptive AI-content in campaign ads now before an election swings on the release of a damaging, AI-generated campaign ad and breaks the remaining trust people have in our elections and democracy.

Comments provided by :
Ilgner , Sudan

No Artificial Intelligence in Campaign Ads

No way Thank You

Comments provided by :
Jackson, George

Hello! I encourage you to regulate the use of AI in campaign ads.

I'm worried about campaigns using AI to create ads with the intention of misleading voters. Not everybody cares deeply about politics, and average Americans shouldn't have to dig into research to know whether or not ads from campaigns are depicting real events or if they were generated by AI.

I understand that there is a law that prohibits fraudulent misrepresentation candidates putting words in the mouths of their opponents that they never said or implied. The FEC should make clear that deliberately deceptive AI content depicting a candidate saying or doing something that they never did is covered under this law.

It's important to get out ahead of this issue with regulations to rein in deceptive AI-content in campaign ads now before an election swings on the release of a damaging, AI-generated campaign ad and breaks the remaining trust people have in our elections and democracy.

Thank you.

Comments provided by :
Jamison, Vanessa

"Hello! I encourage you to regulate the use of AI in campaign ads.

I'm worried about campaigns using AI to create ads with the intention of misleading voters. Not everybody cares deeply about politics, and average Americans shouldn't have to dig into research to know whether or not ads from campaigns are depicting real events or if they were generated by AI.

I understand that there is a law that prohibits fraudulent misrepresentation candidates putting words in the mouths of their opponents that they never said or implied. The FEC should make clear that deliberately deceptive AI content depicting a candidate saying or doing something that they never did is covered under this law.

It's important to get out ahead of this issue with regulations to rein in deceptive AI-content in campaign ads now before an election swings on the release of a damaging, AI-generated campaign ad and breaks the remaining trust people have in our elections and democracy.

Thank you for your time."

Comments provided by :
Johnson, Deanna

There is already a crisis of false information being spread. The ramifications of using AI is not well understood. We need to FORTIFY REALITY, not take a dangerous chance on a method that would be DANGEROUS to our DEMOCRACY.

Comments provided by :
Johnson, Linda

It's vitally important that we regulate the use of AI in political campaign ads.

I'm very concerned about political campaigns using AI to create ads with the intention of purposely misleading voters. Many Americans may not be aware of the potential use of AI generate false ads.

We already have a law that prohibits fraudulent misrepresentation candidates putting words in the mouths of their opponents that they never said or implied. The FEC should make clear that deliberately deceptive AI content depicting a candidate saying or doing something that they never did is covered under this law.

It's important to get in front of this issue with regulations to rein in deceptive AI-content in campaign ads now before an election swings on the release of a damaging, AI-generated campaign ad and breaks the remaining trust people have in our elections and democracy.

Thank you for your attention to this matter.

Comments provided by :
Kalgren, Joseph

It must be clear to the voting public who is, in reality, making statements, taking positions and appearing before them. Reality must not be confused with fiction. AI has the potential of blurring those boundaries. One cannot trust the creator of political ads to use AI honestly or well. So, I urge you to not allow AI in campaign ads at all. There should be stiff penalties when this rule is broken.

Comments provided by :
Karp, Michael

I encourage you to strongly regulate the use of AI in campaign ads immediately.

I'm, along with many others are worried about campaigns using AI to create ads with the intention of misleading voters. Not everybody cares deeply about politics, and average Americans shouldn't have to dig into research to know whether or not ads from campaigns are depicting real events or if they were generated by AI.

I understand that there is a law that prohibits fraudulent misrepresentation candidates putting words in the mouths of their opponents that they never said or implied. The FEC should make clear that deliberately deceptive AI content depicting a candidate saying or doing something that they never did is covered under this law.

It's important to get out ahead of this issue with regulations to rein in deceptive AI-content in campaign ads now before an election swings on the release of a damaging, AI-generated campaign ad and breaks the remaining trust people have in our elections and democracy.

Thank you for your time."

Comments provided by :
Keim, Lisa

"Hello!

I encourage you to regulate the use of AI in campaign ads. With the nation's current dividedness, there is increased risk that using all available tools to win, without regard for truth and reality, will harness the full powers of AI to sell disinformation and blatant lies.

In other words, I'm worried about campaigns using AI to create ads with the intention of misleading voters. Not everybody cares deeply about politics, and average Americans shouldn't have to dig into research to know whether or not ads from campaigns are depicting real events or if they were manufactured and polished by AI.

It is totally appropriate that there is a law that prohibits fraudulent misrepresentation candidates putting words in the mouths of their opponents that they never said or implied. The FEC should make clear that deliberately deceptive AI content depicting a candidate saying or doing something that they never did is covered under this law.

It's important to get out ahead of this issue with regulations to rein in deceptive AI-content in campaign ads now before an election swings on the release of a damaging, fraudulent AI-generated campaign ad and breaks the remaining trust people have in our elections and democracy.

Thank you for your time."

Comments provided by :
Kemp, Thomas

Hello! I encourage you to regulate the use of AI in campaign ads.

I'm worried about campaigns using AI to create ads with the intention of misleading voters. Not everybody cares deeply about politics, and average Americans shouldn't have to dig into research to know whether or not ads from campaigns are depicting real events or if they were generated by AI.

I understand that there is a law that prohibits fraudulent misrepresentation candidates putting words in the mouths of their opponents that they never said or implied. The FEC should make clear that deliberately deceptive AI content depicting a candidate saying or doing something that they never did is covered under this law.

It's important to get out ahead of this issue with regulations to rein in deceptive AI-content in campaign ads now before an election swings on the release of a damaging, AI-generated campaign ad and breaks the remaining trust people have in our elections and democracy.

Thank you for your time and consideration.

Comments provided by :
Klass, David

Hello! I encourage you to regulate the use of AI in campaign ads.

I'm worried about campaigns using AI to create ads with the intention of misleading voters. Not everybody cares deeply about politics, and average Americans shouldn't have to dig into research to know whether or not ads from campaigns are depicting real events or if they were generated by AI.

I understand that there is a law that prohibits fraudulent misrepresentation candidates putting words in the mouths of their opponents that they never said or implied. The FEC should make clear that deliberately deceptive AI content depicting a candidate saying or doing something that they never did is covered under this law.

It's important to get out ahead of this issue with regulations to rein in deceptive AI-content in campaign ads now before an election swings on the release of a damaging, AI-generated campaign ad and breaks the remaining trust people have in our elections and democracy.

Thank you for your time.

Comments provided by :
Kokal, Kristin

Greetings,

I ask that you regulate the use of AI in campaign ads. Our democracy is already in serious danger of being lost, and we do not need another serious threat to it.

I'm worried about campaigns using AI to create ads with the intention of misleading voters. Not everybody cares deeply about politics, and average Americans shouldn't have to dig into research to know whether or not ads from campaigns are depicting real events or if they were generated by AI.

I understand that there is a law that prohibits fraudulent misrepresentation candidates putting words in the mouths of their opponents that they never said or implied. The FEC should make clear that deliberately deceptive AI content depicting a candidate saying or doing something that they never did is covered under this law.

It's important to take the lead on this issue with regulations to rein in deceptive AI-content in campaign ads now before an election swings on the release of a damaging, AI-generated campaign ad and breaks the remaining trust people have in our elections and democracy.

Thank you for your time.
David Kolm

Comments provided by :
Kolm, David

I urge you to regulate the use of AI in political campaign ads and specifically encourage you not to allow it. Videos are powerful, and as AI technology rapidly improves, it becomes increasingly difficult to spot fake videos from real ones.

Our internet and data privacy laws are outdated and this might be one of our last opportunities to create strong regulations for AI before real harm is done.

Thank you for accepting comments in this matter.

Comments provided by :
Kruckenberg, Mindy

Hello! I encourage you to regulate the use of AI in campaign ads.

I'm worried about campaigns using AI to create ads with the intention of misleading voters. Not everybody cares deeply about politics, and average Americans shouldn't have to dig into research to know whether or not ads from campaigns are depicting real events or if they were generated by AI.

I understand that there is a law that prohibits fraudulent misrepresentation candidates putting words in the mouths of their opponents that they never said or implied. The FEC should make clear that deliberately deceptive AI content depicting a candidate saying or doing something that they never did is covered under this law.

It's important to get out ahead of this issue with regulations to rein in deceptive AI-content in campaign ads now before an election swings on the release of a damaging, AI-generated campaign ad and breaks the remaining trust people have in our elections and democracy.

Thank you for your time."

Comments provided by :
Kuech , Janet

Regulate the use of AI in political campaign ads.

Comments provided by :
Landau, Doug

Hello! I encourage you to regulate the use of AI in campaign ads.

I'm worried about campaigns using AI to create ads with the intention of misleading voters. Not everybody cares deeply about politics, and average Americans shouldn't have to dig into research to know whether or not ads from campaigns are depicting real events or if they were generated by AI.

I understand that there is a law that prohibits fraudulent misrepresentation candidates putting words in the mouths of their opponents that they never said or implied. The FEC should make clear that deliberately deceptive AI content depicting a candidate saying or doing something that they never did is covered under this law.

It's important to get out ahead of this issue with regulations to rein in deceptive AI-content in campaign ads now before an election swings on the release of a damaging, AI-generated campaign ad and breaks the remaining trust people have in our elections and democracy.

Thank you for your time."

Comments provided by :
Landes, Llyana

Hello! I encourage you to regulate the use of AI in campaign ads.

I'm worried about campaigns using AI to create ads with the intention of misleading voters. Not everybody cares deeply about politics, and average Americans shouldn't have to dig into research to know whether or not ads from campaigns are depicting real events or if they were generated by AI.

I understand that there is a law that prohibits fraudulent misrepresentation candidates putting words in the mouths of their opponents that they never said or implied. The FEC should make clear that deliberately deceptive AI content depicting a candidate saying or doing something that they never did is covered under this law.

It's important to get out ahead of this issue with regulations to rein in deceptive AI-content in campaign ads now before an election swings on the release of a damaging, AI-generated campaign ad and breaks the remaining trust people have in our elections and democracy.

Thank you for your time.

Comments provided by :
Laurie, Annie

Deepfake technology has undoubtedly reached a point where its realisticness is both outstanding and concerning. I believe its use in today's world can be entertaining for the most part, but using deep fake technology in campaign ads is taking a step too far. In paragraph 3 of supplemental information, I agree that nowadays, it is getting harder and harder to distinguish between what is real, and what is a deep fake. For this reason, we should take a firm stance against the use of deep fake technology in campaign ads as it is essential to make sure voters aren't swayed by videos and have transparent information for them to make their decisions on who to vote for.

Adding on to that, the growing use of deepfakes in campaign ads today pose a significant threat to the leaders and institutions of today. As technology continues to improve, there will only be more deep fakes being created to slander opponents. This will not only diminish the credibility of other candidates, it is also violating their personal privacy as artificial intelligence is stripping away at their identity.

Comments provided by :
Le, Kevin

Do not permit Fake political campaign videos to be created using AI. People are easily misled by photos and videos. Fake AI videos could be used to sway opinion and change election results. Please decide on high punishing fines for fake representations of politicians.

Thank you.

Rebecca

Comments provided by :
Leiter, Rebecca

Hello, I'm writing to encourage you to regulate the use of AI in campaign ads.

I'm worried about campaigns using AI to create ads with the intention of misleading voters. Not everyone cares deeply about politics, and average Americans shouldn't have to dig into research to know whether or not ads from campaigns are depicting real events or if they were generated by AI.

I understand that there is a law that prohibits fraudulent misrepresentation candidates putting words in the mouths of their opponents that they never said or implied. The FEC should make clear that deliberately deceptive AI content depicting a candidate saying or doing something that they never did is covered under this law.

It is important to get out ahead of this issue with regulations to rein in deceptive AI-content in campaign ads NOW before an election swings on the release of a damaging, AI-generated campaign ad and breaks the remaining trust people have in our elections and democracy.

Thank you for your time.

Comments provided by :
Lesser, Margo

"Hello! I encourage you to regulate the use of AI in campaign ads.

I'm worried about campaigns using AI to create ads with the intention of misleading voters. Not everybody cares deeply about politics, and average Americans shouldn't have to dig into research to know whether or not ads from campaigns are depicting real events or if they were generated by AI.

I understand that there is a law that prohibits fraudulent misrepresentation candidates putting words in the mouths of their opponents that they never said or implied. The FEC should make clear that deliberately deceptive AI content depicting a candidate saying or doing something that they never did is covered under this law.

It's important to get out ahead of this issue with regulations to rein in deceptive AI-content in campaign ads now before an election swings on the release of a damaging, AI-generated campaign ad and breaks the remaining trust people have in our elections and democracy.

There's already enough propaganda in political campaigns.

Thank you for your time."

Comments provided by :
LETENDRE, MICHAEL

We need to do what the news station France 24 does regularly and explain and expose video fakes. We need to make sure that deep video and photo fakes are not used in any of US elections! So I support finding a way to effectively prevent the use of AI in political campaigns.

Comments provided by :
Liesy, Carolyn

Regulate the use of AI in political campaign ads.

I'm very concerned about campaigns using AI to create ads with the intention of misleading voters. Average Americans shouldn't have to dig into research to know whether or not ads from campaigns are depicting real events or if they were generated by AI.

I understand that there is a law that prohibits fraudulent misrepresentation candidates putting words in the mouths of their opponents that they never said or implied. The FEC should make clear that deliberately deceptive AI content depicting a candidate saying or doing something that they never did is covered under this law.

It's important to get out ahead of this issue with regulations to rein in deceptive AI-content in campaign ads now before an election swings on the release of a damaging, AI-generated campaign ad and breaks the remaining trust people have in our elections and democracy.

Comments provided by :
Linda, Lauren

Hello! I encourage you to regulate the use of AI in campaign ads.

I'm worried about campaigns using AI to create ads with the intention of misleading voters. Not everybody cares deeply about politics, and average Americans shouldn't have to dig into research to know whether or not ads from campaigns are depicting real events or if they were generated by AI.

I understand that there is a law that prohibits fraudulent misrepresentation candidates putting words in the mouths of their opponents that they never said or implied. The FEC should make clear that deliberately deceptive AI content depicting a candidate saying or doing something that they never did is covered under this law.

It's important to get out ahead of this issue with regulations to rein in deceptive AI-content in campaign ads now before an election swings on the release of a damaging, AI-generated campaign ad and breaks the remaining trust people have in our elections and democracy.

Thank you for your time.

Comments provided by :
Lindsay, Jim

AI CAN BE USED FOR VNEFARIOUS PURPOSES. IT REQUIRES DEDICATION TO THE TRUTH AND PERSONAL RESPONSIBILITY. Choose honesty in your campaign ads.

Comments provided by :
Lipsitt , Don

AI generated content, including so-called "deep-fakes", audio and/or video showing candidates saying something they never said nor in any way representing their attitudes, views, policies or actions are a proximate threat to America and our democracy.

The FEC should unequivocally ban the use of AI generated sound or imagery in any and all campaign advertising regardless of the medium or method of conveyance.

Attempts to finesse limited rules in deference to any 1st amendment or other concerns are certain to miss some angle or technical avoiding of targeted rules and leave voters at the mercy of nefarious actors seeking to attack the very foundation of our country.

As a seasoned IT management consultant with over 30 years of experience training IT personnel in systems analysis and design techniques, assisting senior management in the development of IT strategies for government, manufacturing and service sector companies and advising healthcare system executives on their use of analytics software capabilities, as well as a former county level Party official and one-time candidate for state senate, I strongly urge you to ban the use of AI by political campaigns, PACs 501(c)3s, 501(c)4s and any other individual, entity or organization seeking to influence or educate voters on electoral matters.

Comments provided by :
Magid, Joseph

Hello! I encourage you to regulate the use of AI in campaign ads.

I'm worried about campaigns using AI to create ads with the intention of misleading voters. Not everybody cares deeply about politics, and average Americans shouldn't have to dig into research to know whether or not ads from campaigns are depicting real events or if they were generated by AI.

I understand that there is a law that prohibits fraudulent misrepresentation candidates putting words in the mouths of their opponents that they never said or implied. The FEC should make clear that deliberately deceptive AI content depicting a candidate saying or doing something that they never did is covered under this law.

It's important to get out ahead of this issue with regulations to rein in deceptive AI-content in campaign ads now before an election swings on the release of a damaging, AI-generated campaign ad and breaks the remaining trust people have in our elections and democracy.

Thank you for your time.

Comments provided by :
Martin, Blake

The use of knowingly deceptive AI is simply unethical. You would be knowingly deceiving your intended audience to vote, therefore biasing their votes on something which may not be true. Such is not the basic of a free democracy; this would be thought-policing through intentional propaganda.

Comments provided by :
Martinez, Gabriela

Don't allow AI to do this.

Comments provided by :
McCaslin, Hugh

Hello! I encourage you to regulate the use of AI in campaign ads.

I'm worried about campaigns using AI to create ads with the intention of misleading voters. Not everybody cares deeply about politics, and average Americans shouldn't have to dig into research to know whether or not ads from campaigns are depicting real events or if they were generated by AI.

I understand that there is a law that prohibits fraudulent misrepresentation candidates putting words in the mouths of their opponents that they never said or implied. The FEC should make clear that deliberately deceptive AI content depicting a candidate saying or doing something that they never did is covered under this law.

It's important to get out ahead of this issue with regulations to rein in deceptive AI-content in campaign ads now before an election swings on the release of a damaging, AI-generated campaign ad and breaks the remaining trust people have in our elections and democracy.

Thank you for your time."
david mcgahee

Comments provided by :
mcgahee, david

Do not allow malicious lies about candidates to be spread through AI.

Comments provided by :
McGovern, Judith

Please monitor and remove campaigns ads done by ai

Comments provided by :
mcgrath, Kathleen

Hello, I am a longtime resident of Raleigh, NC and also a poll worker for Wake County elections. I want to strongly express my opposition to the use of any AI generated campaign materials being allowed in any Federal or State elections. Thank you for your time.

Comments provided by :
McGraw, Cheryl

Please act now to protect the future destruction of our culture by political inappropriates that would use AI to distort the truth.

Comments provided by :
Mead, Sally

Hi, I am concerned about AI usage in campaign ads and think regulation is appropriate.

I'm worried about campaigns using AI to create ads with the intention of misleading voters. Not everybody cares deeply about politics, and average Americans shouldn't have to dig into research to know whether or not ads from campaigns are depicting real events or if they were generated by AI like deepfakes.

I understand that there is a law that prohibits fraudulent misrepresentation candidates putting words in the mouths of their opponents that they never said or implied. The FEC should make clear that deliberately deceptive AI content depicting a candidate saying or doing something that they never did is covered under this law.

It's important to get out ahead of this issue with regulations to rein in deceptive AI-content in campaign ads now before an election swings on the release of a damaging, AI-generated campaign ad and breaks the remaining trust people have in our elections and democracy.

Thanks for your consideration.

Comments provided by :
Melander, Nick

Hello! I encourage you to regulate the use of AI in campaign ads.

I'm worried about campaigns using AI to create ads with the intention of misleading voters. Not everybody cares deeply about politics, and average Americans shouldn't have to dig into research to know whether or not ads from campaigns are depicting real events or if they were generated by AI.

I understand that there is a law that prohibits fraudulent misrepresentation candidates putting words in the mouths of their opponents that they never said or implied. The FEC should make clear that deliberately deceptive AI content depicting a candidate saying or doing something that they never did is covered under this law.

It's important to get out ahead of this issue with regulations to rein in deceptive AI-content in campaign ads now before an election swings on the release of a damaging, AI-generated campaign ad and breaks the remaining trust people have in our elections and democracy.

Thank you for your time.

Comments provided by :
Mellen , Glenn

I encourage you to regulate the use of AI in campaign ads.

I'm worried about campaigns using AI to create ads with the intention of misleading voters. Not everybody cares deeply about politics, and average Americans shouldn't have to dig into research to know whether or not ads from campaigns are depicting real events or if they were generated by AI.

I understand that there is a law that prohibits fraudulent misrepresentation candidates putting words in the mouths of their opponents that they never said or implied. The FEC should make clear that deliberately deceptive AI content depicting a candidate saying or doing something that they never did is covered under this law.

It's important to get out ahead of this issue with regulations to rein in deceptive AI-content in campaign ads now before an election swings on the release of a damaging, AI-generated campaign ad and breaks the remaining trust people have in our elections and democracy.

Comments provided by :
Mendieta, Vince

Fraudulent campaign advertising has been with us since the early days of political campaigns in the U.S.A. Now we have a new tool for generating fraudulent ads, "generative artificial intelligence". I don't know what the best way to prevent this from happening is. It seems inevitable since the problem exists and will be used in the next upcoming federal elections.

I believe that we should do everything that we can to regulate the use of AI, employing our best AI scientists with consultation from both major political parties, with every effort to prevent and punish the insertion of falsifications into our politics.

Thank you.

Comments provided by :
Meyer, Alan

Hello! I encourage you to regulate the use of AI in campaign ads.

I'm worried about campaigns using AI to create ads with the intention of misleading voters. Not everybody cares deeply about politics, and average Americans shouldn't have to dig into research to know whether or not ads from campaigns are depicting real events or if they were generated by AI.

I understand that there is a law that prohibits fraudulent misrepresentation candidates putting words in the mouths of their opponents that they never said or implied. The FEC should make clear that deliberately deceptive AI content depicting a candidate saying or doing something that they never did is covered under this law.

It's important to get out ahead of this issue with regulations to rein in deceptive AI-content in campaign ads now before an election swings on the release of a damaging, AI-generated campaign ad and breaks the remaining trust people have in our elections and democracy.

Thank you for your time.

Comments provided by :
Meyers, Alan

"Hello! I encourage you to regulate the use of AI in campaign ads.

I'm worried about campaigns using AI to create ads with the intention of misleading voters. Not everybody cares deeply about politics, and average Americans shouldn't have to dig into research to know whether or not ads from campaigns are depicting real events or if they were generated by AI.

I understand that there is a law that prohibits fraudulent misrepresentation candidates putting words in the mouths of their opponents that they never said or implied. The FEC should make clear that deliberately deceptive AI content depicting a candidate saying or doing something that they never did is covered under this law.

It's important to get out ahead of this issue with regulations to rein in deceptive AI-content in campaign ads now before an election swings on the release of a damaging, AI-generated campaign ad and breaks the remaining trust people have in our elections and democracy.

Thank you for your time."

Comments provided by :
Michaelson, Kathy

Greetings!

I urge the FEC to regulate the use of AI in campaign ads. The obvious concern is that the "deep fake" deceptiveness possible with AI-generated imagery and sound at best spreads misinformation and at worst leads to a loss of trust in all sources of information. Trustworthy sources of information are vital to maintaining a democracy.

Existing laws against fraudulent misrepresentation in campaign ads should cover the case of AI-generated ads depicting a candidate doing or saying things they never actually did or said.

In my opinion, such laws against fraud should also cover depictions that are made with "small-print" statements about how this is "what could happen if . . ." Like maybe big letters over such depictions saying something like "EVENTS SHOWN ARE CONSTRUCTED BY AI"

I am sure there are other deceptive aspects of AI in campaign ads that need to be regulated, and I hope that you will use all available research on this to create the needed regulations NOW to curb the deceptions and disruptions of AI-generated campaign ads going forward.

Thank you for your time.

Comments provided by :
Miller, Charlotte

Please regulate the use of AI in campaign ads.

I'm worried about campaigns using AI to create ads with the intention of misleading voters. Not everybody cares deeply about politics, and average Americans shouldn't have to dig into research to know whether or not ads from campaigns are depicting real events or if they were generated by AI.

I understand that there is a law that prohibits fraudulent misrepresentation candidates putting words in the mouths of their opponents that they never said or implied. The FEC should make clear that deliberately deceptive AI content depicting a candidate saying or doing something that they never did is covered under this law.

It's important to get out ahead of this issue with regulations to rein in deceptive AI-content in campaign ads now before an election swings on the release of a damaging, AI-generated campaign ad and breaks the remaining trust people have in our elections and democracy.

Thank you for your time.

Comments provided by :
Mills, Edward

I'm worried about campaigns using AI to create ads with the intention of misleading voters. Not everybody knows much about how easily information and pictures are faked. They take too much at face value. I am a retired Librarian and know how hard it is to take the time and energy to check out the facts. Americans shouldn't have to research to know whether or not ads from campaigns are depicting real events or if they were generated by AI.

I understand that there is a law that prohibits fraudulent misrepresentation candidates putting words in the mouths of their opponents that they never said or implied. The FEC should make clear that deliberately deceptive AI content depicting a candidate saying or doing something that they never did is covered under this law.

It's important to get out ahead of this issue with regulations to rein in deceptive AI-content in campaign ads now before an election swings on the release of a damaging, AI-generated campaign ad and breaks the remaining trust people have in our elections and democracy.

Thank you for your time and attention.

Comments provided by :
Moore, Mary

As a computer user myself, I'm well aware of the capabilities of computers. AI is incredible. It can fool any layman and many experts. The thought of faked videos getting out and fooling people is a terrifying and all too possible scenario.

This is a situation that has to be kept in mind and prevented if at all possible.

Comments provided by :

Moore, Suzanne

Hello! I encourage you to regulate the use of AI in campaign ads.

I'm worried about campaigns using AI to create ads with the intention of misleading voters. Not everybody cares deeply about politics, and average Americans shouldn't have to dig into research to know whether or not ads from campaigns are depicting real events or if they were generated by AI.

I understand that there is a law that prohibits fraudulent misrepresentation candidates putting words in the mouths of their opponents that they never said or implied. The FEC should make clear that deliberately deceptive AI content depicting a candidate saying or doing something that they never did is covered under this law.

It's important to get out ahead of this issue with regulations to rein in deceptive AI-content in campaign ads now before an election swings on the release of a damaging, AI-generated campaign ad and breaks the remaining trust people have in our elections and democracy.

Thank you for your time
James Morse

Comments provided by :
Morse, James

"Hello! I encourage you to regulate the use of AI in campaign ads.

I'm worried about campaigns using AI to create ads with the intention of misleading voters. Not everybody cares deeply about politics, and average Americans shouldn't have to dig into research to know whether or not ads from campaigns are depicting real events or if they were generated by AI.

I understand that there is a law that prohibits fraudulent misrepresentation candidates putting words in the mouths of their opponents that they never said or implied. The FEC should make clear that deliberately deceptive AI content depicting a candidate saying or doing something that they never did is covered under this law.

It's important to get out ahead of this issue with regulations to rein in deceptive AI-content in campaign ads now before an election swings on the release of a damaging, AI-generated campaign ad and breaks the remaining trust people have in our elections and democracy.

Thank you for your time."

Comments provided by :
Murdock, Matt

We don't need or want AI in political campaign ads.

Comments provided by :
Navarro, Eleanor

"Hello! I encourage you to regulate the use of AI in campaign ads.

I'm worried about campaigns using AI to create ads with the intention of misleading voters. Not everybody cares deeply about politics, and average Americans shouldn't have to dig into research to know whether or not ads from campaigns are depicting real events or if they were generated by AI.

I understand that there is a law that prohibits fraudulent misrepresentation candidates putting words in the mouths of their opponents that they never said or implied. The FEC should make clear that deliberately deceptive AI content depicting a candidate saying or doing something that they never did is covered under this law.

It's important to get out ahead of this issue with regulations to rein in deceptive AI-content in campaign ads now before an election swings on the release of a damaging, AI-generated campaign ad and breaks the remaining trust people have in our elections and democracy.

Thank you for your time."

Comments provided by :
Neill, Matthew

Artificial Intelligence has no place in America's political ads. Deception dictated by too many politicians is already a very serious threat to the American people. Please forbid the use of AI in campaign ads.

Thank you!

Comments provided by :
NEW, ROBERT

We encourage you to regulate the use of AI in campaign ads.

We are worried about campaigns using AI to create ads with the intention of misleading voters. Not everybody cares deeply about politics, and average Americans shouldn't have to dig into research to know whether or not ads from campaigns are depicting real events or if they were generated by AI.

We understand that there is a law that prohibits fraudulent misrepresentation candidates putting words in the mouths of their opponents that they never said or implied. The FEC should make clear that deliberately deceptive AI content depicting a candidate saying or doing something that they never did is covered under this law.

It's important to get out ahead of this issue with regulations to rein in deceptive AI-content in campaign ads now before an election swings on the release of a damaging, AI-generated campaign ad and breaks the remaining trust people have in our elections and democracy.

Thank you for your time.

Comments provided by :
Newberg, Stephen and Robin

I'm worried about campaigns using AI to create ads with the intention of misleading voters. Not everybody cares deeply about politics, and average Americans shouldn't have to dig into research to know whether or not ads from campaigns are depicting real events or if they were generated by AI.

Thank you!

Mark Nobriga

Comments provided by :
Nobriga, Mark

I strongly encourage you to regulate the use of AI in campaign ads.

I'm worried about campaigns using AI to create ads with the intention of misleading voters. Not everybody cares deeply about politics, and average Americans shouldn't have to dig into research to know whether or not ads from campaigns are depicting real events or if they were generated by AI.

I understand that there is a law that prohibits fraudulent misrepresentation candidates putting words in the mouths of their opponents that they never said or implied. The FEC should make clear that deliberately deceptive AI content, depicting a candidate saying or doing something that they never did is covered under this law.

It's important to get out ahead of this issue with regulations to rein in deceptive AI-content in campaign ads now before an election swings on the release of a damaging, AI-generated campaign ad, and breaks the remaining trust people have in our elections and democracy.

Thank you.

Comments provided by :
Nugnez, Nile

This is very scary stuff. Please do what you can to reduce the risk.

Comments provided by :
O'Brien, Dave

Please prohibit the use of AI generated deepfake advertising in politics in all US elections.

Comments provided by :
Oliver, Janet

Dear Federal Elections Commission:

I want you to regulate the use of AI in campaign ads.

I'm worried about campaigns using AI to create ads with the intention of misleading voters. Not everybody cares deeply about politics, and average Americans shouldn't have to dig into research to know whether or not ads from campaigns are depicting real events or if they were generated by AI.

I understand that there is a law that prohibits fraudulent misrepresentation candidates putting words in the mouths of their opponents that they never said or implied. The FEC should make clear that deliberately deceptive AI content depicting a candidate saying or doing something that they never did is covered under this law.

It's important to get out ahead of this issue with regulations to rein in deceptive AI-content in campaign ads now before an election swings on the release of a damaging, AI-generated campaign ad and breaks the remaining trust people have in our elections and democracy.

Thank you,
James Olsavsky
Citizen of the United States of America

Comments provided by :
Olsavsky, James

Please make sure that artificial intelligence cannot be used in political ads. There is a real and enormous danger here. Disinformation is already running rampant everywhere. It must stay out of political ads. I think we actually need a moratorium on AI development. i realize there is stood that comes of it, but also much bad. I think the good comes at too high a cost. Disinformation in ads, particularly political ads, is just one of many examples.

Comments provided by :
Olsson, Katie

AI and disinformation, individually, pose such a danger to our society. The intersection of the two poses exponentially more danger. Please make sure that AI cannot be used in political ads to mitigate this danger. Our democracy depends on it. No good can come of Deep Fakes in political ads. The only reason to use AI, and particularly deep fakes in political ads is to deceive.

Comments provided by :
Olsson, Katie

As a voting citizen of the United States, I respectfully but strongly encourage the FEC to ban any AI generated content in campaign ads. Please protect the integrity of our elections. Thank you.

Comments provided by :
O'Malley, Margaret

Too much false information is given, as truth, by politicians right now. Having more false information, either generated by AI or a ChatBot continues the belief, held by many Americans, that politics is all a lie and should not be engaged with.

Do not allow artificially, computer-generated, ads or images in any political statements.

Keep It Real

T. Porter Onan

Comments provided by :
Onan, T. Porter

Don't allow AI political postings. Social media is responsible for misinformation, conspiracy theories, and political violence. AI generated political postings would only make it worse.

Comments provided by :
Overton , Sara

Please create a rule which expressly bans the use of AI in the generation of political campaign advertising.

There is already a misinformation crisis affecting American politics and the use of misleading deep-fakes to generate negative press about candidates must be prevented.

Our democracy is at stake here.

Thank you.

Comments provided by :
Peake-Jones, David

I encourage you to strengthen regulations for the use of AI in campaign ads.

I'm worried about campaigns using AI to create ads with the intention of misleading voters. Not everybody cares deeply about politics, and average Americans shouldn't have to dig into research to know whether or not ads from campaigns are depicting real events or if they were generated by AI.

I understand that there is a law that prohibits fraudulent misrepresentation candidates putting words in the mouths of their opponents that they never said or implied. The FEC should make clear that deliberately deceptive AI content depicting a candidate saying or doing something that they never did is covered under this law.

It's important to get out ahead of this issue with regulations to rein in deceptive AI-content in campaign ads now before an election swings on the release of a damaging, AI-generated campaign ad and breaks the remaining trust people have in our elections and democracy.

Thank you.

Comments provided by :
Perry, Ethan

I encourage you to regulate the use of AI in campaign ads.

I'm worried about campaigns using AI to create ads with the intention of misleading voters. Not everybody cares deeply about politics, and average Americans shouldn't have to dig into research to know whether or not ads from campaigns are depicting real events or if they were generated by AI.

I understand that there is a law that prohibits fraudulent misrepresentation candidates putting words in the mouths of their opponents that they never said or implied. The FEC should make clear that deliberately deceptive AI content depicting a candidate saying or doing something that they never did is covered under this law.

It's important to get out ahead of this issue with regulations to rein in deceptive AI-content in campaign ads now before an election swings on the release of a damaging, AI-generated campaign ad and breaks the remaining trust people have in our elections and democracy.

Thank you for your time.

Comments provided by :
Peterson, Davin

Very severe penalties, with intense, enormous fines accompanied by mandatory prison sentences need to be threatened by law to deter even wealthy billionaires from being tempted to exploit AI even once in campaign ads. Democracy is so precious that we deserve to ensure the most forceful deterrents scare away anyone thinking of undermining it through AI technology.

Comments provided by :
Peterson, Diane J.

I insist you to regulate the use of AI in campaign ads.

I'm worried about campaigns using AI to create ads with the intention of misleading voters. Not everybody cares deeply about politics, and average Americans shouldn't have to dig into research to know whether or not ads from campaigns are depicting real events or if they were generated by AI.

I understand that there is a law that prohibits fraudulent misrepresentation candidates putting words in the mouths of their opponents that they never said or implied. The FEC should make clear that deliberately deceptive AI content depicting a candidate saying or doing something that they never did is covered under this law.

It's important to get out ahead of this issue with regulations to rein in deceptive AI-content in campaign ads now before an election swings on the release of a damaging, AI-generated campaign ad and breaks the remaining trust people have in our elections and democracy.

Thank you for your time.

Comments provided by :
Posner, Gordon

Hello! I encourage you to regulate the use of AI in campaign ads.

I'm worried about campaigns using AI to create ads with the intention of misleading voters. Not everybody cares deeply about politics, and average Americans shouldn't have to dig into research to know whether or not ads from campaigns are depicting real events or if they were generated by AI.

I understand that there is a law that prohibits fraudulent misrepresentation candidates putting words in the mouths of their opponents that they never said or implied. The FEC should make clear that deliberately deceptive AI content depicting a candidate saying or doing something that they never did is covered under this law.

It's important to get out ahead of this issue with regulations to rein in deceptive AI-content in campaign ads now before an election swings on the release of a damaging, AI-generated campaign ad and breaks the remaining trust people have in our elections and democracy.

Thank you for your time."

Regards,

Comments provided by :
Praus, Diana

Hello! I encourage you to regulate the use of AI in campaign ads.

I'm worried about campaigns using AI to create ads with the intention of misleading voters. Not everybody cares deeply about politics, and average Americans shouldn't have to dig into research to know whether or not ads from campaigns are depicting real events or if they were generated by AI.

I understand that there is a law that prohibits fraudulent misrepresentation candidates putting words in the mouths of their opponents that they never said or implied. The FEC should make clear that deliberately deceptive AI content depicting a candidate saying or doing something that they never did is covered under this law.

It's important to get out ahead of this issue with regulations to rein in deceptive AI-content in campaign ads now before an election swings on the release of a damaging, AI-generated campaign ad and breaks the remaining trust people have in our elections and democracy.

Thank you for your time.

Comments provided by :
Pudzianowski, Lydia

Hello! I encourage you to regulate the use of AI in campaign ads.

I'm worried about campaigns using AI to create ads with the intention of misleading voters. Not everybody cares deeply about politics, and average Americans shouldn't have to dig into research to know whether or not ads from campaigns are depicting real events or if they were generated by AI.

I understand that there is a law that prohibits fraudulent misrepresentation candidates putting words in the mouths of their opponents that they never said or implied. The FEC should make clear that deliberately deceptive AI content depicting a candidate saying or doing something that they never did is covered under this law.

It's important to get out ahead of this issue with regulations to rein in deceptive AI-content in campaign ads now before an election swings on the release of a damaging, AI-generated campaign ad and breaks the remaining trust people have in our elections and democracy.

Thank you for your time.

Comments provided by :
Pugh, Lindsay

I encourage you to regulate the use of AI in campaign ads.

I'm worried about campaigns using AI to create ads with the intention of misleading voters. Not everybody cares deeply about politics, and average Americans shouldn't have to dig into research to know whether or not ads from campaigns are depicting real events or if they were generated by AI.

I understand that there is a law that prohibits fraudulent misrepresentation candidates putting words in the mouths of their opponents that they never said or implied. The FEC should make clear that deliberately deceptive AI content depicting a candidate saying or doing something that they never did is covered under this law.

It's important to get out ahead of this issue with regulations to rein in deceptive AI-content in campaign ads now before an election swings on the release of a damaging, AI-generated campaign ad and breaks the remaining trust people have in our elections and democracy.

Thank you

Comments provided by :
Rakaczky, Rachel

Please regulate the use of AI in campaign ads.

I'm worried about campaigns using AI to create ads with the intention of misleading voters. Not everybody cares deeply about politics, and average Americans shouldn't have to dig into research to know whether or not ads from campaigns are depicting real events or if they were generated by AI.

I understand that there is a law that prohibits fraudulent misrepresentation candidates putting words in the mouths of their opponents that they never said or implied. The FEC should make clear that deliberately deceptive AI content depicting a candidate saying or doing something that they never did is covered under this law.

It's important to get out ahead of this issue with regulations to rein in deceptive AI-content in campaign ads now before an election swings on the release of a damaging, AI-generated campaign ad and breaks the remaining trust people have in our elections and democracy.

Thank you for your time.

Comments provided by :
Rangel, Myrian

Campaign Ads need to be personal, live, and real: AI needs to be detected and eliminated.

Comments provided by :
Ranney, Paul

It is a moral, ethical and democracy-preserving imperative that generative/deepfake AI-enabled disinformation/lies be blocked from political campaign ads.

Nick Ratto Pharm.D.

Comments provided by :
Ratto, Nicholas

Please do not allow AI to be used in Campaign Ads. It's too early it it's "life" to be factual 100% of the time (not that humans are either, to be honest). Perhaps a time will come down the road when it's "more mature" but we're not there yet.

Comments provided by :
Renwick, Beth

"Hello! I encourage you to regulate the use of AI in campaign ads.

I'm worried about campaigns using AI to create ads with the intention of misleading voters. Not everybody cares deeply about politics, and average Americans shouldn't have to dig into research to know whether or not ads from campaigns are depicting real events or if they were generated by AI.

I understand that there is a law that prohibits fraudulent misrepresentation candidates putting words in the mouths of their opponents that they never said or implied. The FEC should make clear that deliberately deceptive AI content depicting a candidate saying or doing something that they never did is covered under this law.

It's important to get out ahead of this issue with regulations to rein in deceptive AI-content in campaign ads now before an election swings on the release of a damaging, AI-generated campaign ad and breaks the remaining trust people have in our elections and democracy.

Thank you for your time."

Comments provided by :
Reynolds, Linda

Hello! I encourage you to regulate the use of AI in campaign ads.

I fear campaigns may use AI to create ads with the intention of misleading voters. Not everybody cares deeply about politics, and average Americans shouldn't have to dig into research to know whether or not ads from campaigns are depicting real events or if they were generated by AI. We've already seen how misinformation can be treated as fact.

I understand that there is a law that prohibits fraudulent misrepresentation candidates putting words in the mouths of their opponents that they never said or implied. The FEC should make clear that deliberately deceptive AI content depicting a candidate saying or doing something that they never did is covered under this law.

It's important to get out ahead of this issue with regulations to rein in deceptive AI-content in campaign ads now before an election swings on the release of a damaging, AI-generated campaign ad and breaks the remaining trust people have in our elections and democracy.

Thank you for your time.

Comments provided by :
Ridge-O'Brien, Mariah

Hello! I encourage you to regulate the use of AI in campaign ads.

I'm worried about campaigns using AI to create ads with the intention of misleading voters. Not everybody cares deeply about politics, and average Americans shouldn't have to dig into research to know whether or not ads from campaigns are depicting real events or if they were generated by AI.

I understand that there is a law that prohibits fraudulent misrepresentation candidates putting words in the mouths of their opponents that they never said or implied. The FEC should make clear that deliberately deceptive AI content depicting a candidate saying or doing something that they never did is covered under this law.

It's important to get out ahead of this issue with regulations to rein in deceptive AI-content in campaign ads now before an election swings on the release of a damaging, AI-generated campaign ad and breaks the remaining trust people have in our elections and democracy.

Thank you for your time.

Comments provided by :
Roberts-Moneir, Nancy

Hello! I encourage you to regulate the use of AI in campaign ads.

I'm worried about campaigns using AI to create ads with the intention of misleading voters. Not everybody cares deeply about politics, and average Americans shouldn't have to dig into research to know whether or not ads from campaigns are depicting real events or if they were generated by AI.

I understand that there is a law that prohibits fraudulent misrepresentation candidates putting words in the mouths of their opponents that they never said or implied. The FEC should make clear that deliberately deceptive AI content depicting a candidate saying or doing something that they never did is covered under this law.

It's important to get out ahead of this issue with regulations to rein in deceptive AI-content in campaign ads now before an election swings on the release of a damaging, AI-generated campaign ad and breaks the remaining trust people have in our elections and democracy.

Thank you for your time.

Comments provided by :
Rolfes, Kevin

I find it very disturbing that campaign photos and material can appear that has been generated by artificial intelligence. It is especially terrible if the ad appears just days before an election, when there is no time to respond to the false information or photos. I would hope that a change be made such that any campaign ad would have the line at the end saying "I am -----(potential candidate), and I approved this message."

Comments provided by :
Rosczyk, Mary Lou

I understand that there is a law that prohibits fraudulent misrepresentation candidates putting words in the mouths of their opponents that they never said or implied. The FEC should make clear that deliberately deceptive AI content depicting a candidate saying or doing something that they never did is covered under this law.

Comments provided by :
Rothkopf, Holly

It is most urgent that AI not be allowed to do political ads. The general public is not knowledgeable enough to realize that what they are reading/viewing is not true, nor will they take the time and effort to check out the authenticity of the ad--nor will they know HOW to check.

Comments provided by :
Sanders, Joan E

"Hello! I encourage you to regulate the use of AI in campaign ads.

I'm worried about campaigns using AI to create ads with the intention of misleading voters. Not everybody cares deeply about politics, and average Americans shouldn't have to dig into research to know whether or not ads from campaigns are depicting real events or if they were generated by AI.

I understand that there is a law that prohibits fraudulent misrepresentation candidates putting words in the mouths of their opponents that they never said or implied. The FEC should make clear that deliberately deceptive AI content depicting a candidate saying or doing something that they never did is covered under this law.

It's important to get out ahead of this issue with regulations to rein in deceptive AI-content in campaign ads now before an election swings on the release of a damaging, AI-generated campaign ad and breaks the remaining trust people have in our elections and democracy.

Thank you for your time."

Comments provided by :
Sanford, Ken

I am concerned that artificial intelligence will be contained in messages sent for political candidates as well as any web messages of influence, such as advertising and education. Please make sure AI is curtailed in the interest of truth.

Comments provided by :
Schafer, Patricia

Greetings,

I want to encourage you to regulate the use of AI in campaign ads.

I'm worried about campaigns using AI to create ads with the intention of misleading voters. Not everybody cares deeply about politics, and average Americans shouldn't have to dig into research to know whether or not ads from campaigns are depicting real events or if they were generated by AI.

I understand that there is a law that prohibits fraudulent misrepresentation candidates putting words in the mouths of their opponents that they never said or implied. The FEC should make clear that deliberately deceptive AI content depicting a candidate saying or doing something that they never did is covered under this law.

It's important to get out ahead of this issue with regulations to rein in deceptive AI-content in campaign ads now before an election swings on the release of a damaging, AI-generated campaign ad and breaks the remaining trust people have in our elections and democracy.

Thank you for your time and consideration of my comments.

Comments provided by :
Schenck, Alan

I encourage you to regulate the use of AI in campaign ads.

I'm worried about campaigns using AI to create ads with the intention of misleading voters. Not everybody cares deeply about politics, and average Americans shouldn't have to dig into research to know whether or not ads from campaigns are depicting real events or if they were generated by AI.

I understand that there is a law that prohibits fraudulent misrepresentation candidates putting words in the mouths of their opponents that they never said or implied. The FEC should make clear that deliberately deceptive AI content depicting a candidate saying or doing something that they never did is covered under this law.

It's important to get out ahead of this issue with regulations to rein in deceptive AI-content in campaign ads now before an election swings on the release of a damaging, AI-generated campaign ad and breaks the remaining trust people have in our elections and democracy.

Thank you for your time

Comments provided by :
Schriner, Macie

As a concerned citizen, I encourage you to regulate the use of AI in campaign ads.

I'm worried about campaigns using AI to create ads with the intention of misleading voters. Not everybody cares deeply about politics, and average Americans shouldn't have to dig into research to know whether or not ads from campaigns are depicting real events or if they were generated by AI.

I understand that there is a law that prohibits fraudulent misrepresentation candidates putting words in the mouths of their opponents that they never said or implied. The FEC should make clear that deliberately deceptive AI content depicting a candidate saying or doing something that they never did is covered under this law.

It's important to get out ahead of this issue with regulations to rein in deceptive AI-content in campaign ads now before an election swings on the release of a damaging, AI-generated campaign ad and breaks the remaining trust people have in our elections and democracy.

Thank you for your time.

Comments provided by :
Schwartz, David

I encourage you to regulate the use of AI in campaign ads.

I'm worried about campaigns using AI to create ads with the intention of misleading voters. Not everybody cares deeply about politics, and average Americans shouldn't have to dig into research to know whether or not ads from campaigns are depicting real events or if they were generated by AI.

I understand that there is a law that prohibits fraudulent misrepresentation candidates putting words in the mouths of their opponents that they never said or implied. The FEC should make clear that deliberately deceptive AI content depicting a candidate saying or doing something that they never did is covered under this law.

It's important to get out ahead of this issue with regulations to rein in deceptive AI-content in campaign ads now before an election swings on the release of a damaging, AI-generated campaign ad and breaks the remaining trust people have in our elections and democracy.

Thank you for your time.

Comments provided by :
Schwartz, Zachary

I strongly urge you to regulate the use of AI in campaign ads.

In the absence of regulation it is very likely that some campaigns will use AI to create ads with the intention of misleading voters. A great many people do not follow politics at all closely, and they should not have to dig into research to know whether or not ads from campaigns are depicting real events or whether they were generated by AI.

I understand that there is a law that prohibits fraudulent misrepresentation candidates putting words into the mouths of their opponents that those opponents never said or implied. The FEC should make it clear that deliberately deceptive AI content depicting a candidate saying or doing something that they never did is covered under this law.

It is important to get out ahead of this issue with regulations to rein in deceptive AI-content in campaign ads now, BEFORE an election swings on the release of a damaging, AI-generated campaign ad and breaks the remaining trust people have in our elections and democracy.

Thank you for your time.

Comments provided by :
Scott, Brian M.

I am very worried about AI's being used to rig elections. It's almost impossible to tell the difference over the phone between robots and _real people now, and bad actors are using them to try to scam us out of our money. Having them used to rig an election would be even worse; it's a nightmare scenario! Please make sure that AI's are _not used in that way! Thank you.

Comments provided by :
Segal, Heady

Hello! I encourage you to regulate the use of AI in campaign ads.

I'm worried about campaigns using AI to create ads with the intention of misleading voters. Not everybody cares deeply about politics, and average Americans shouldn't have to dig into research to know whether or not ads from campaigns are depicting real events or if they were generated by AI.

I understand that there is a law that prohibits fraudulent misrepresentation candidates putting words in the mouths of their opponents that they never said or implied. The FEC should make clear that deliberately deceptive AI content depicting a candidate saying or doing something that they never did is covered under this law.

It's important to get out ahead of this issue with regulations to rein in deceptive AI-content in campaign ads now before an election swings on the release of a damaging, AI-generated campaign ad and breaks the remaining trust people have in our elections and democracy.

Comments provided by :
Sells, Greg

To whom it may concern:

I encourage you to regulate the use of AI in campaign ads.

I'm worried about campaigns using AI to create ads with the intention of misleading voters. Not everybody cares deeply about politics, and average Americans shouldn't have to dig into research to know whether or not ads from campaigns are depicting real events or if they were generated by AI.

I understand that there is a law that prohibits fraudulent misrepresentation candidates putting words in the mouths of their opponents that they never said or implied. The FEC should make clear that deliberately deceptive AI content depicting a candidate saying or doing something that they never did is covered under this law.

It's important to get out ahead of this issue with regulations to rein in deceptive AI-content in campaign ads now before an election swings on the release of a damaging, AI-generated campaign ad and breaks the remaining trust people have in our elections and democracy.

Thank you.

Comments provided by :
Sharee, Donna

"Hello! I encourage you to regulate the use of AI in campaign ads.

I'm worried about campaigns using AI to create ads with the intention of misleading voters. Not everybody cares deeply about politics, and average Americans shouldn't have to dig into research to know whether or not ads from campaigns are depicting real events or if they were generated by AI.

I understand that there is a law that prohibits fraudulent misrepresentation candidates putting words in the mouths of their opponents that they never said or implied. The FEC should make clear that deliberately deceptive AI content depicting a candidate saying or doing something that they never did is covered under this law.

It's important to get out ahead of this issue with regulations to rein in deceptive AI-content in campaign ads now before an election swings on the release of a damaging, AI-generated campaign ad and breaks the remaining trust people have in our elections and democracy.

Thank you for your time."
Sheila Sheppard

Comments provided by :
Sheppard, Sheila

Hello! I encourage you to regulate the use of AI in campaign ads.

I'm worried about campaigns using AI to create ads with the intention of misleading voters. Not everybody cares deeply about politics, and average Americans shouldn't have to dig into research to know whether or not ads from campaigns are depicting real events or if they were generated by AI.

I understand that there is a law that prohibits fraudulent misrepresentation candidates putting words in the mouths of their opponents that they never said or implied. The FEC should make clear that deliberately deceptive AI content depicting a candidate saying or doing something that they never did is covered under this law.

It's important to get out ahead of this issue with regulations to rein in deceptive AI-content in campaign ads now before an election swings on the release of a damaging, AI-generated campaign ad and breaks the remaining trust people have in our elections and democracy.

Thank you for your time.

Comments provided by :
Shih, Terri

Artificial Intelligence is RISKY. Too many people will believe anything - even when they know it is false. We have too many problems now with frequent lies and half truths. Don't make it worse with AI.

Comments provided by :
Sibley, Sam

I encourage you to regulate the use of AI in campaign ads.

I'm worried about campaigns using AI to create ads that mislead voters. Most Americans shouldn't have to do research to know whether or not ads from campaigns are depicting real events or if they were generated by AI.

While I understand that there is a law that prohibits fraudulent misrepresentation, the FEC should make clear that deliberately deceptive AI content depicting a candidate saying or doing something that they never did is covered under this law.

It's important to be proactive about misleading technology issue with regulations to rein in deceptive AI-content in campaign ads now before an election swings on the release of a damaging, AI-generated campaign ad and breaks the remaining trust people have in our elections and democracy.

Thank you for your time."

Comments provided by :
silverman, marc

AI has the potential to do great good and great harm.

Please regulate its use to prevent harmful, misleading, or dishonest political ads.

Comments provided by :

Smith, Barbara

I am writing today regarding the idea of AI creating political ads. I believe this is a horrible idea and am terribly against it. I think it could be used to create some horrific ads that could be very difficult to refute and always leave the idea that the ads were correct rather than fake.

Comments provided by :
Smith, Sharon

AI in political ads is going to add to voter misinformation and confusion. Very dangerous

Comments provided by :
Snyder, Julie

Hello!

I encourage you to regulate the use of AI in campaign ads.

I'm worried about campaigns using AI to create ads with the intention of misleading voters. Not everybody cares deeply about politics, and average Americans shouldn't have to dig into research to know whether or not ads from campaigns are depicting real events or if they were generated by AI.

I understand that there is a law that prohibits fraudulent misrepresentation candidates putting words in the mouths of their opponents that they never said or implied. The FEC should make clear that deliberately deceptive AI content depicting a candidate saying or doing something that they never did is covered under this law.

It's important to get out ahead of this issue with regulations to rein in deceptive AI-content in campaign ads now before an election swings on the release of a damaging, AI-generated campaign ad and breaks the remaining trust people have in our elections and democracy.

Thank you for your time!

Comments provided by :
Sorge, Sven

PLEASE regulate the use of AI in campaign ads!

I'm very concerned about campaigns using AI to create fake ads with the intention of misleading voters. The average American shouldn't have to dig into research to know whether or not ads from campaigns are depicting real events or if they were generated by AI.

I understand that there is a law that prohibits fraudulent misrepresentation candidates putting words in the mouths of their opponents that they never said or implied. The FEC should make clear that deliberately deceptive AI content depicting a candidate saying or doing something that they never did is covered under this law.

Help us out here!!!

Comments provided by :
Staas, Bonita

Hello! I encourage you to regulate the use of AI in campaign ads.

I'm worried about campaigns using AI to create ads with the intention of misleading voters. Not everybody cares deeply about politics, and average Americans shouldn't have to dig into research to know whether or not ads from campaigns are depicting real events or if they were generated by AI.

I understand that there is a law that prohibits fraudulent misrepresentation candidates putting words in the mouths of their opponents that they never said or implied. The FEC should make clear that deliberately deceptive AI content depicting a candidate saying or doing something that they never did is covered under this law.

It's important to get out ahead of this issue with regulations to rein in deceptive AI-content in campaign ads now before an election swings on the release of a damaging, AI-generated campaign ad and breaks the remaining trust people have in our elections and democracy.

Thank you for your time.

Comments provided by :
Stefl, Camilla

Dear Sir/Madam:

I STRONGLY urge you to stringently regulate the use of Artificial Intelligence (AI) in any and all advertising related to political campaigns. The potential for having the faces and voices of officeholders, and candidates, impersonated in a near-undetectable fashion is so very high as to constitute a danger to democracy.

I would think that candidates, and everyone else in the political class, would be up in arms about the potential for finding themselves misrepresented. I have to think that any who are NOT must have ulterior motives.

This technology presents a clear and present danger to our country. Please constrain it now, while you still can.

Comments provided by :
Sullivan-Greiner, Sadie

"Hello, I am asking you to regulate the use of AI in campaign ads.

Campaigns use AI to create false ads which misleading voters. This simply is not okay. We need honesty and integrity in our process, and this is the anthesis of that.

There is a law that prohibits fraudulent misrepresentation candidates putting words in the mouths of their opponents that they never said or implied. The FEC should make clear that deliberately deceptive AI content depicting a candidate saying or doing something that they never did is covered under this law.

We need to do this now, before deceptive AI-content in campaign ads breaks the remaining trust people have in our elections and democracy.

Thank you for your time."

Comments provided by :
Sullivan, Lynne

Please do not allow political advertisements to use AI ever for their benefit.

Comments provided by :
sullivan, sue

Artificial intelligence (AI) has no place in political campaigns. Politics in America has become corrupted enough. The potential to use AI to fake statements or activities of politicians is truly the poison pill of of our elections. I urge in the strongest possible terms the F.E.C. to ban this before it gets a foothold in our elections.

Comments provided by :
Teater, Tim

I am writing in support of REG 2023-02 Artificial Intelligence in Campaign Ads. Requiring disclosure of AI-generated content (which may be potentially misleading or even deep fakes) is crucial to protecting our already stressed democratic processes. Adding AI-generated content without disclosure will increase the mistrust for the media that already exists. Please pass this important legislation.

Comments provided by :
Tepen, Colleen

I strongly encourage you to regulate the use of AI in campaign ads.

I'm concerned about campaigns using AI to create ads with the intention of misleading voters. I worked on political campaigns for many years, and I've talked to thousands of voters. Not everybody cares deeply about politics, and average Americans shouldn't have to dig into research to know whether or not ads from campaigns are depicting real events or if they were generated by AI. My experience tells me that they won't do so - and that means AI-generated ads will promote misinformation and undermine our democracy.

I understand that there is a law that prohibits fraudulent misrepresentation candidates putting words in the mouths of their opponents that they never said or implied. The FEC should make clear that deliberately deceptive AI content depicting a candidate saying or doing something that they never did is covered under this law.

Public policy too often ends up playing catch-up when it comes to new technologies. It's important to get out ahead of this issue with regulations to rein in deceptive AI-content in campaign ads now before an election swings on the release of a damaging, AI-generated campaign ad and breaks the remaining trust people have in our elections and democracy.

Thank you for your time and the opportunity to comment.

Comments provided by :
Tilton-Jones, Carrie

Deep fake AI would likely be worse than FBI Director Comey's last-minute interference that elected Trump over Hillary.

Comments provided by :
Tomaselli, Paul

Please regulate the use of AI in campaign ads.

I'm worried about campaigns using AI to create ads with the intention of misleading voters. Not everybody cares deeply about politics, and average Americans shouldn't have to dig into research to know whether or not ads from campaigns are depicting real events or if they were generated by AI.

I understand that there is a law that prohibits fraudulent misrepresentation candidates putting words in the mouths of their opponents that they never said or implied. The FEC should make clear that deliberately deceptive AI content depicting a candidate saying or doing something that they never did is covered under this law.

It's important to get out ahead of this issue with regulations to rein in deceptive AI-content in campaign ads now before an election swings on the release of a damaging, AI-generated campaign ad and breaks the remaining trust people have in our elections and democracy.

Thank you for your time.

Comments provided by :
Torres, Rebecca

For once, let's get ahead out ahead of this issue with regulations to rein in deceptive AI-content in campaign ads now before an election swings on the release of a damaging, AI-generated campaign ad and breaks the remaining trust people have in our elections and democracy.

Comments provided by :
Touchstone, Lana

Please regulate the use of AI in campaign ads.

I am worried about campaigns that use AI to create ads with the intention of misleading voters. Not everybody cares deeply about politics. Average Americans should not have to dig into research to know whether ads from campaigns are depicting real events or if they were generated by AI.

I understand there is a law that prohibits fraudulent misrepresentation, I.e., candidates putting words in the mouths of their opponents that they never said or implied. The FEC should make clear that deliberately deceptive AI content depicting a candidate saying or doing something they never did is covered under this law.

It is important to get out ahead of this issue with regulations to rein in deceptive AI-content in campaign ads now, before an election swings on the release of a damaging, AI-generated campaign ad and breaks the remaining trust people have in our elections and democracy.

Thank you.

Comments provided by :
Tucker, James

Greetings

Please regulate the use of AI in campaign ads.

Campaigns may use AI to create ads with the intention of misleading voters. Not everybody cares deeply about politics, and average Americans shouldn't have to dig into research to know whether or not ads from campaigns are depicting real events or if they were generated by AI.

I understand that there is a law that prohibits fraudulent misrepresentation candidates putting words in the mouths of their opponents that they never said or implied. The FEC should make clear that deliberately deceptive AI content depicting a candidate saying or doing something that they never did is covered under this law.

It's important to get out ahead of this issue with regulations to rein in deceptive AI-content in campaign ads now before an election swings on the release of a damaging, AI-generated campaign ad and breaks the remaining trust people have in our elections and democracy.

Thank you.

Comments provided by :
Tuff, Paul

Hello! I encourage you to regulate the use of AI in campaign ads.

I'm worried about campaigns using AI to create ads with the intention of misleading voters. Not everybody cares deeply about politics, and average Americans shouldn't have to dig into research to know whether or not ads from campaigns depict real events or if they were generated by AI.

I understand that there is a law that prohibits fraudulent misrepresentation candidates putting words in the mouths of their opponents that they never said or implied. The FEC should make clear that deliberately deceptive AI content depicting a candidate saying or doing something that they never did is covered under this law.

It's important to get out ahead of this issue with regulations to rein in deceptive AI content in campaign ads now before an election swings on the release of a damaging, AI-generated campaign ad and breaks the remaining trust people have in our elections and democracy.

Comments provided by :
Ukoha, Grace

Please ban the use of AI in political ads. People need the truth, not lies generated by AI.

Comments provided by :
Valencia, Sylvia

Good Morning:

I encourage you to regulate the use of AI in campaign ads.

I'm worried about campaigns using AI to create ads with the intention of misleading voters. Not everybody cares deeply about politics, and average Americans shouldn't have to dig into research to know whether or not ads from campaigns are depicting real events or if they were generated by AI.

I understand that there is a law that prohibits fraudulent misrepresentation candidates putting words in the mouths of their opponents that they never said or implied. The FEC should make clear that deliberately deceptive AI content depicting a candidate saying or doing something that they never did is covered under this law.

It's important to get out ahead of this issue with regulations to rein in deceptive AI-content in campaign ads now before an election swings on the release of a damaging, AI-generated campaign ad and breaks the remaining trust people have in our elections and democracy.

Thank you for your time.

George Van Arsdall, Sr.

Comments provided by :
Van Arsdall, George

Hello! I encourage you to regulate the use of AI in campaign ads.

I'm worried about campaigns using AI to create ads with the intention of misleading voters. Not everybody cares deeply about politics, and average Americans shouldn't have to dig into research to know whether or not ads from campaigns are depicting real events or if they were generated by AI.

I understand that there is a law that prohibits fraudulent misrepresentation candidates putting words in the mouths of their opponents that they never said or implied. The FEC should make clear that deliberately deceptive AI content depicting a candidate saying or doing something that they never did is covered under this law.

It's important to get out ahead of this issue with regulations to rein in deceptive AI-content in campaign ads now before an election swings on the release of a damaging, AI-generated campaign ad and breaks the remaining trust people have in our elections and democracy.

Thank you for your time.

Comments provided by :
Wachowiak, Emily

May I respectfully urge you to regulate the use of AI in campaign ads?

I am worried about campaigns using AI to create ads with the intention of misleading voters. Not everybody cares deeply about politics, and average Americans shouldn't have to dig into research to know whether or not ads from campaigns are depicting real events or if they were generated by AI.

I understand that there is a law that prohibits fraudulent misrepresentation candidates putting words in the mouths of their opponents that they never said or implied. The FEC should make clear that deliberately deceptive AI content depicting a candidate saying or doing something that they never did is covered under this law.

It's important to get out ahead of this issue with regulations to rein in deceptive AI-content in campaign ads now before an election swings on the release of a damaging, AI-generated campaign ad and breaks the remaining trust people have in our elections and democracy.

Thank you for your consideration of this matter.

Comments provided by :
Webb, MD, David

Please control the extent to which AI can be used to create political ads. Regulation is essential to maintaining free and fair elections, and upholding the sanctity of our democracy. Free speech arguments should be subject to truth and accuracy when it comes to providing voters with information about candidates. AI is threatening to take dishonesty to a new level. Please act quickly to protect our right to decide without tainted information.

Comments provided by :
Weis, Karen

"Hello! I encourage you to regulate the use of AI in campaign ads.

I'm worried about campaigns using AI to create ads with the intention of misleading voters. Not everybody cares deeply about politics, and average Americans shouldn't have to dig into research to know whether or not ads from campaigns are depicting real events or if they were generated by AI.

I understand that there is a law that prohibits fraudulent misrepresentation candidates putting words in the mouths of their opponents that they never said or implied. The FEC should make clear that deliberately deceptive AI content depicting a candidate saying or doing something that they never did is covered under this law.

It's important to get out ahead of this issue with regulations to rein in deceptive AI-content in campaign ads now before an election swings on the release of a damaging, AI-generated campaign ad and breaks the remaining trust people have in our elections and democracy.

Thank you for your time."

Comments provided by :
Wheeler, John

Hello,

I write to encourage you to regulate the use of AI in campaign ads.

I'm concerned that campaigns may use AI to create ads with the intention of misleading voters. Americans should not have to invest time and effort in research to know whether or not campaign ads are depicting real events or if they were generated by AI.

I understand there is a law that prohibits fraudulent misrepresentation candidates putting words in the mouths of their opponents that they never said or implied. The FEC should make clear that deliberately deceptive AI content depicting a candidate saying or doing something they never did is covered under this law.

It's important to address this issue with regulations now before an election swings on the release of a damaging, AI-generated campaign ad and breaks the remaining trust people have in our elections and democracy.

Thank you.

Comments provided by :
Whitbeck, Julie

Hello! I encourage you to regulate the use of AI in campaign ads.

I'm worried about campaigns using AI to create ads with the intention of misleading voters. Not everybody cares deeply about politics, and average Americans shouldn't have to dig into research to know whether or not ads from campaigns are depicting real events or if they were generated by AI.

I understand that there is a law that prohibits fraudulent misrepresentation candidates putting words in the mouths of their opponents that they never said or implied. The FEC should make clear that deliberately deceptive AI content depicting a candidate saying or doing something that they never did is covered under this law.

It's important to get out ahead of this issue with regulations to rein in deceptive AI-content in campaign ads now before an election swings on the release of a damaging, AI-generated campaign ad and breaks the remaining trust people have in our elections and democracy.

Thank you for your time.

Comments provided by :
Wicht, Dan

"Hello! I encourage you to regulate the use of AI in campaign ads.

I'm worried about campaigns using AI to create ads with the intention of misleading voters. Not everybody cares deeply about politics, and average Americans shouldn't have to dig into research to know whether or not ads from campaigns are depicting real events or if they were generated by AI.

I understand that there is a law that prohibits fraudulent misrepresentation candidates putting words in the mouths of their opponents that they never said or implied. The FEC should make clear that deliberately deceptive AI content depicting a candidate saying or doing something that they never did is covered under this law.

It's important to get out ahead of this issue with regulations to rein in deceptive AI-content in campaign ads now before an election swings on the release of a damaging, AI-generated campaign ad and breaks the remaining trust people have in our elections and democracy.

Thank you for your time."

Comments provided by :
Woods, Laura

Please regulate the use of AI in campaign ads. It would benefit everyone involved if AI was prohibited from being used in the generation of any and all political campaign ads.

Disinformation is greatly impacting our ability to discern truth from untruth. AI can make this even worse. Most Americans dont have the time or skills required to research whether or not what they are seeing or hearing is fabricated false or misleading material from our various media outlets. Allowing AI to aid any political ad generation will just be pouring more fuel on that fire.

Thank you for your time.

Comments provided by :
Zao, Cheri

You MUST expand on the current law prohibiting candidates from fraudulent misrepresentation of their opponents in the Federal Election Campaign Act to include AI generated deepfakes. Our great democratic republic cannot stand against lies and slander and incitement to violence. If you do not outlaw fraudulent misrepresentation, the United States of America will die.

Comments provided by :
Zefran, Joseph